FINAL SURGE FOR WILLKIE

Willkies After Services--

Spending their first quiet Sunday in seven weeks of hard compaigning, Wendell L. Willkie, Republican nominee for the Presidency, and the charming Mrs. Willkie leave the Church of the Heavenly Rest in New York City after attending services. Emerging from the church, they were greeted by a tremendous crowd... and this little fellow with an American flag, a toddler who brought out the smiles.

GREEKS DRIVE INTO ALBANIA

By Associated Press

A Reuters (British news agency) dispatch from Athens today said it was unofficially reported that the Greeks had taken the offensive in the southern sector of the front in the last 48 hours and were advancing at some points into Albanian territory.

Greek Alpine troops were reported to have driven seven miles into Albania, ringing the Fascist supply base at Koritza and capturing 1200 Italian prisoners.

Dispatches from Yugoslavia said the fall of Koritza, in the northern sector of the 100-mile Balkan war front, was "expected momentarily."

Greek defenders were said to have repulsed Italian columns in fierce hand-to-hand fighting with bayonets and grenades.

Italian reinforcements were reported moving into the front line on the northern Greek border as they headed toward Phlorina.

HIGHWAY CLOSED

Greek artillery fire has closed the highway from Yugoslavia to Koritza, Italy's base in the northern sector, reports said.

British and Greek warplanes inflicted heavy casualties, dispatches said, in low-flying attacks on Italian troops massed along the Greek-Albanian border.

A British broadcast said RAF raiders, accompanied by Greek planes, also attacked the Albanian capital, Tirana, and partly destroyed the palace of former King Zog, now being used as an Italian military headquarters.

The Greek high command said a heavy Italian attack in the mountains of Epirus Province, preceded by 15 consecutive bombing forays against Greek defense positions had been routed with the destruction of nine Fascist tanks.

Stefani, the official Italian news agency, acknowledged that Premier Mussolini's legions were meeting stiff Greek resistance in the Ioannina (Janina) region at the southwest end of the front.

BAD WEATHER PREVAILS

A Stefani war correspondent reported that the Italian invaders had entered Greek territory "varying distances," and he added:

"The Italian advance failed to acquire lightning rhythm because of bad weather prevailing for several days and because of bad roads . . . swampy strips interrupted here and there by dynamite mines exploded by the Greek rear guard."

The Greeks, he said, were fighting with British and French ar-

Final Polls Show Roosevelt, Willkie In Photo-Finish

Polls in the most momentous presidential election since 1864 closed their books today with the general consensus that balloting tomorrow may be as even as the 1916 race when Woodrow Wilson was finally elected after apparently being defeated by Charles Evans Hughes.

If the various straw polls have their results proved out in tomorrow's actual balloting by the nation's electorate, the election will be practically a photo-finish.

The polls themselves are agreed on that. They were agreed that while President Roosevelt holds a slight percentage edge throughout the country, the Willkie surge is still progressing.

By tomorrow, it is impressed, the gap may be closed by the Republican candidate and the doubtful states swung into the Willkie column.

NECK AND NECK RACE

Each candidate has an equal chance—is today's consensus of various polls which have been making careful studies and surveys of the trends for weeks.

Studying all the experts, it is patent that Roosevelt and Willkie are pounding home for the election wire neck and neck and that the winner may not be known until hours after returns begin coming in.

There are calculations down so fine that a single three-vote state, the smallest, might determine the outcome.

Even a poll of 62 Washington correspondents by the Washington Times-Herald, a poll of men with trained political ears, men who are veterans of many a campaign, returned 31 predictions for a Roosevelt win as against 31 for a Willkie win.

SEES WILLKIE WIN

However, David Lawrence, publisher of the United States News at Washington, forecasting his seventh presidential election (he picked the winner the six previous times) gives Roosevelt and Willkie 196 electoral votes each and lists 10 states, with 139 votes, as doubtful.

But Lawrence concludes with a forecast for a Willkie victory with a minimum of 278 and a maximum of 335 electoral votes. The winning candidate must receive at least 266 of the 531 electoral votes.

The Gallup, Dunn, Hurja and Pearson-Allen (Washington Merry-Go-Round) forecasts all agreed that Roosevelt will get the following states, with their electoral votes noted:

Alabama, 11; Arizona, 3; Arkansas, 9; Florida, 7; Georgia, 12; Kentucky, 11; Louisiana, 10; Mississippi, 9; Montana, 4; Nevada, 3; North Carolina, 13; Oklahoma, 11; South Carolina, 8; Tennessee, 11; Texas, 23; Utah, 4; and Virginia, 11. Total 160.

The same forecasters give Willkie the following states as a practical certainty, as of today:

Illinois, 29; Indiana, 14; Iowa, 11; Kansas, 9; Maine, 5; Michigan, 19; Nebraska, 7; New Hampshire, 4; North Dakota, 4; South Dakota, 4; Vermont, 3; and Wisconsin, 12. Total 121.

This disposes of 29 states and 281 electoral votes, leaving 19 states and 250 electoral votes in the balance.

Outstanding in conclusions of all polls is the extreme closeness and uncertainty in the large electoral vote states across the industrial North, from Massachusetts to Missouri.

POPULAR VOTE SHIFTS

Dr. George Gallup, director of the American Institute of Public Opinion, whose survey reports are published locally in the Boston Globe, said today that "Franklin D. Roosevelt leads Wendell L. Willkie in popular votes."

"But as of Sunday, Nov. 3," Dr. Gallup emphasized, "the trend was still continuing toward Willkie. It was running strongly enough to indicate the closest election in 24 years and one in which the winner in popular votes

VON WIEGAND FEARS U. S. HEADING INTO ACTUAL WAR

By KARL H. VON WIEGAND

Chief Foreign Correspondent for the Hearst Newspapers and for 28 years outstanding American political observer in Europe and the Far East.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 4—President Roosevelt has announced his approval of the placing by the British of orders for 26,000 warplanes in America for England.

This announcement would seem to clearly imply that the President expects a prolongation of the war between England and Germany into a conflict of appalling mutual material destruction and partial extermination of civilian populations in the two countries on a scale the world has never before seen.

President Roosevelt's statement, in which he calls for priority for British orders for warplanes over orders for America's own lamentably weak defenses, reveals three very interesting things.

1—That he expects the war to be long.

2—America cannot possibly make and deliver 26,000 warplanes to Britain and do some work for our own aerial defense, under 18 months to two years.

3—That England now sees no chance of "smashing Hitler" except possibly by enormous air armadas and that the British are relying mainly on the United States to furnish the warplanes for the essential superiority or mastery in the air.

It forecasts the terrible nature of that prolonged war and the horrible scope of mutual destruction, human and material. Cities and towns will be wiped out. Men, women and children will be driven under ground as in the days of the cave man.

Already the war between the British Royal Air Force and the German Luftwaffe is mainly a war against the civilian population of each country. The objective aimed at by each side is to "break the will to resistance" of the civil populations, not of the fighting forces.

As the conflict is prolonged the misery now suffered by the civil

Willkie Surge Holds Into Final Hours

Without any semblance of a breather, the 1940 presidential campaign roared turbulently down the home stretch today with leaders of both parties confidently predicting victory—yet appealing through every hour to "on-the-fence" voters.

The final message to America's potential 60,000,000 voters comes tonight from both President Roosevelt and Wendell L. Willkie.

But in the intervening hours, virtually every speaker with a chance to gain votes was thrust forward by Democrats and Republicans alike.

It was a confusing day of rival victory claims, political oratory and last minute appeals.

Facing barrage after barrage in the 11th hour broadsides of both parties was a groggy electorate of 60,000,000 registered voters—fully 50,000,000 of whom were expected to go to the polls.

Meanwhile, the swing of voters towards Willkie continued steadily in polls throughout the nation.

TWO TERM LIMIT

With the most active campaign in the history of politics almost over for him, Willkie smashed home one more nail in his "No Third Term issue—one he has hammered at steadily since the battle began—with a promise to institute a constitutional amendment to limit the presidential service to two terms, should he be elected.

Before making three last minute radio appeals to the American voters, the Republican presidential nominee said in a statement that if the "common law against a third term be repealed," there would be no law to restrain President Roosevelt "or any of his successors, elected, hereditary or appointed, from any indefinite number of terms."

"When elected," Willkie said, "in order to prevent any subsequent demonstrations of such ambitious views, in my first message to Congress I shall recommend that they submit a constitutional amendment limiting the time any one President may serve to eight years or less."

F. D. GOING TO HYDE PARK

Mr. Roosevelt, back in New York where he will receive the returns tomorrow night at his Hyde Park home, set aside his day for campaigning among his Hudson Valley neighbors, very much as he did on the eve of the 1936 election.

His final message to the electorate will highlight the two hour

FINAL DRIVE ON FOR STATE VOTES

Republicans and Democrats paced each other down the home stretch this afternoon, not only out to win the state for their parties' national tickets, but to claim Massachusuetts' administration for the next two years.

Of the two opposing camps, the Democrats were making a desperate bid to get the vote out tomorrow. The G. O. P. State leaders were apparently saving their forensic ammunition for the "night before."

Governor Saltonstall, candidate for re-election, stayed at his desk in the State House until late in the day, while Atty. Gen. Dever, out to unseat the governor, was attending rallies at the Fish Pier and Faneuil Hall.

Both promised whirlwind tours of important Boston's sections this evening. This city's vote, they foresaw, would determine the state.

Dever's addresses at the Fish Pier, where 500 turned out, and at Faneuil Hall, where there were about 300, bore down on a denunciation of Gov. Saltonstall's "labor record."

Governor Saltonstall's big guns, meanwhile, were turned against his opponent with the charge that "Coakley wants Dever on Beacon

F. D. Winds Up Campaign in Home District

HYDE PARK, N. Y., Nov. 5—President Roosevelt came home today to campaign among his Hudson Valley neighbors and to deliver tonight his customary election eve radio address to the nation.

His campaign special arrived at Hyde Park at 9:30 a. m. and the chief executive motored immediately to his family home for a brief rest preliminary to making his final bid for election.

In New York, Edward J. Flynn, Democratic national chairman, had boarded the train early today as it stopped briefly en route from Washington.

He arranged for the day a program almost identical with the one he followed on the final day before election in 1936, when he motored for miles up one side of the Hudson river and down the other, with brief, informal speeches along the way.

There were signs that the President, instead of making another major political address, might limit himself tonight largely to an appeal to all eligible voters to go to the polls tomorrow.

His address tonight was to be part of a two-hour radio program, starting at 10 p. m. E. S. T.

AIRLINER WRECKED WITH 10 ABOARD

SALT LAKE CITY, Utah, Nov. 4—Wreckage of the United Airlines plane, missing since 3:49 a. m., today, with seven passengers and three crew members aboard was sighted at noon, high up on a slope of the Wasatch mountains near Centerville, Utah, about 20 miles northeast of Salt Lake City.

The wreckage was seen from a rescue ship sent out from the Salt Lake airport. Capt. Williams Hays, pilot of the rescue ship, reported no signs of life about the wreckage. He said the wrecked plane lay on a snow-covered slope about 7000 feet up the mountain.

The spot is six miles east of Centerville, along the valley that runs north and south between Salt Lake and Ogden.

Sheriff Joseph Holbrook said a rescue expedition would be sent out on foot immediately. The party expects to find great difficulty in reaching the site of the wreck, Holbrook said, because the slope is covered with several feet of snow which fell in a storm last night. The party probably will have to use snowshoes, and skis, he said.

The transport disappeared early today during a driving snowstorm.

The plane left San Francisco at 10:30 p. m. last night and was due in Salt Lake City at 3:39 a. m. The big plane was unable to land here at 4:40 a. m. because of the snow.

Couple on Wrecked Plane Speeding to Ill Son

DETROIT, Nov. 4 (INS)—In their anxiety to reach the bedside of one of their sons who underwent an emergency appendectory, Mr. and Mrs. Howard C. Muir of Detroit boarded the United Air Lines plane at San Francisco, which was found wrecked near Centerville, Utah, today.

Muir, 41 years old and a plant engineer at the Briggs Manufacturing Co. where he has been employed for 20 years, was reached by telephone yesterday in San Francisco and told his son, Richard, 14, was stricken with appendicitis. Muir gave his permission for an operation and said he and his wife would cut short their vacation and speed back to Detroit.

The couple, who have another son, Michael, 5, was making their first extended trip from home without their children. It was also the first time Mrs. Muir had ever flown.

1940 Hub Tax Income Hits $45,744,013

More than 75 per cent of Boston's 1940 tax levy has been collected up to the present time, or $45,744,013 of the total $60,720,826, City Collector Merritt Thompson informed Mayor Tobin today.

The amount represents the highest percentage of tax collections for this period of the year since 1919. In the same period last year, the amount collected was 72 per cent of the total tax levy.

Circulars Attacking President Seized Here

Postoffice inspectors today seized 40 bags of mail containing unsigned political circulars which they said were scurrilous and defamatory against President Roosevelt. The circulars, officials said, were mailed from New York.

Under the election laws, all political circulars must bear the signature of the sender.

AGILE HUBBY'S KICKS WIN BLONDE A DIVORCE

"Where did he kick you?" asked the lawyer, who didn't blush.

"Well, you know," replied the petite and pretty blonde, who did blush, "I had my back turned."

Her husband was very agile on his feet, Mrs. Marion K. Stout, 24, of Exeter, N. H., testified today in Middlesex Probate court—and he was particularly agile when one of his feet was swinging in her direction.

In fact, said the pretty 100-pounder, her six-foot husband had an addiction for kicking her, as well as for using his fists and blacking her eyes, and once he kicked her, literally, right into a doctor's office for treatment.

She was granted a divorce by Judge Arthur E. Beane from Leo Stout of Main st., Waltham, whom she married Aug. 30, 1937.

Trouble she testified, started even on the honyemoon trip to New Hampshire, when she wanted to stay at a hotel and he insisted on stopping with his family.

As a result, he finally interrupted the brief tour by putting her on a bus for Boston. Later he rejoined her, she said, and they went to live in Waltham.

But from then on it was just a series of periodic fights and reconciliations, her first black eye coming three months after the marriage when she accidentally broke his pipe.

"How did he hit you?" asked the lawyer.

"With his fist," she replied.

"Well, show the court how."

So little Marion took a stance on the witness stand, left arm crooked, and threw a sidearm hook and such was the terrific force of her hundred pounds behind it that she might—just possibly—have cracked an egg.

Leo, though, could hit harder than she, the blonde said.

Driver in Hit-Run Case Held in $5000

As the elderly woman victim of a Jamaica Plain hit-run auto accident was close to death today, Daniel Downey, 42-year-old Roslindale painter, unemployed and father of three, pleaded innocence in West Roxbury court.

Downey was charged with leaving the scene of an accident after causing personal injuries and also with driving so as to endanger. He was held in $5000 bail until Dec. 2, when Special Officer Lawrence J. McNamara asked continuance until the woman's condition was decided.

Reported in "very poor" condition at City Hospital was Mrs. Bridget Condon, 75, of Dixwell st., Jamaica Plain, who before she lapsed into a coma told officers an amazing story of having been left to die on a lonely spot by the motorist who ran her down.

PUT WOMAN IN CAR

Mrs. Condon, suffering a fractured skull, possible fractured spine, fractures of both legs, concussion and other critical injuries, told officers she was conscious when the driver put her into the seat beside him after the accident near her home.

He asked her whether she wanted to be taken to her home or to a hospital, she related. He finally decided to take her to the hospital, she declared, but instead suddenly stopped at a lonely spot at the edge of Franklin Park and shoved her out. A passing motorist found her almost lifeless form later.

At the time, a cab driver, George Buswell of Ashmont st., Dorchester, saw the motorist stop and put the injured woman in his car. Assuming the motorist was taking her to the hospital, he went on his way.

By an odd coincidence, Grace Condon, daughter of the victim, later hailed Buswell's cab and asked him to drive her to City Hospital.

RECALLS INCIDENT

After she explained that her mother had been the victim of a hit-run driver, the cabby quickly recalled the incident. Not only that, he told police later, but he had taken the registration number of the car which he said he clearly remembered.

It was then that officers arrested Downey at his home.

Sergt. Joseph Fallon stated that police found the handle of Mrs. Condon's umbrella wedged in the machine and evidence that kerosene had been used in an alleged effort to eradicate blood stains from the back floor mat.

Willkie Surge Drops Betting Odds to 6-5

Wendell L. Willkie's amazing surge in the presidential race completely disrupted large-scale wagering in the financial district today as his supporters forced a drop from 7 to 5 to 6 to 5 in the odds favoring re-election of President Roosevelt.

Wall St. reports indicated that one large betting house had to suspend quotation of odds for a time until the influx of Willkie money had been accommodated.

In Massachusetts Willkie was a top heavy favorite at odds of 10-3 despite publication of a poll giving the state to Roosevelt by a narrow margin.

After one early wager of $1300 to $1000 favoring re-election of President Roosevelt Boston wagering dried up and late in the day only small sums were available at the equivalent quotation of 6½ to 5.

U. S. Food Stamp Meetings Here

Beginning tonight, representatives of the Surplus Marketing Administration will hold a series of meetings throughout Boston to explain to the retail food trade the food stamp plan which goes into effect in this city Nov. 15.

All merchants who operate meat markets, fruit and vegetable stores, butter and egg stores, bakeries and creameries, are invited to these meetings.

Tonight's meeting will be at 8 p. m. in Latin Hall, Teachers College, Huntington and Longwood aves., Roxbury.

On Wednesday evening at the same hour, meetings will be at Dorchester High School, Codman sq.; Clarence Edwards School, Main and Walker sts., Charlestown, and at South Boston High School, G st.

Thursday, at J. E. Burke High School, Washington st., Grove Hall; Friday, at William Blackstone School, Blossom st., West End; Joseph H. Barnes School, Marion st., East Boston, and at English High School, Montgomery st., South End.

Wednesday, Nov. 13, there will be meetings at William H. Taft School, Cambridge and Warren sts., Brighton; Roslindale High School, Poplar st., Roslindale, and Hyde Park High School, Metropolitan ave., Hyde Park.

Deer Island Plane Base Discontinued

The emergency airplane base established last June on Deer Island by Pan-American Airlines has been discontinued, it was learned today.

Officials at the island revealed that the equipment of the temporary base had been shipped to Africa, where Pan-American was reported to be establishing one of its major transatlantic bases, in view of changing war conditions.

Atty. Lewis Suddenly Taken Ill in Office

Former Asst. U. S. Atty. William H. Lewis became ill in his office in the Old South Building today and was taken to City Hospital to be treated for high blood pressure.

Once a noted Harvard football player and track star, Atty. Lewis refused to become alarmed at his condition and planned to go to his home in Walnut st., Dedham, later in the day. He is now 71 years old.

Chelsea Cop Faces Hit-Run Charges

Robert Dymsza, 26, of Congress ave., Chelsea, a special policeman, today faced charges of leaving the scene of an accident following his arrest in connection with automobile injuries suffered by Fred W. Haskell, 81, of Main st., Melrose, as he crossed Second st., Chelsea.

Police arrested Dymsza when he returned and began asking questions concerning the extent of the victim's injuries.

DRAFT QUESTIONNAIRES—Mary Palmisano of Revere Draft Board No. 128 sends out questionnaires to draft registrants today . . . the first in Greater Boston to be mailed. Nov. 8 is the date . . . . for the returns.

DRAFT BOARDS MAIL OUT QUESTIONNAIRES

Questionnaires will be waiting at home tonight for many of the State's draft registrants whose numbers were drawn close to the top of the list in last Tuesday's national lottery.

Selective service headquarters was unable to tell today exactly how many questionnaires had been mailed out thus far, but estimated that it would be an appreciable number, counting all 173 Massachusetts local boards.

Meanwhile advisory boards to assist prospective draftees in filling out the many-paged questionnaires were being set up and will be functioning shortly.

The average registrant will have no trouble in answering questions that will classify him, Maj. David B. Weden of state headquarters said, but if difficulties do arise, the advisory boards will be ready to help.

The registrant will have five days in which to answer and return the questionnaire, unless his local board gives him an extension for valid reason.

Local boards were still checking their serial numbers against the master list of the national lottery to determine in what order registrants are to be classified and called and when this work is complete, questionnaires will probably go out at a rate of 50 a day in each district.

BARE EDEN-SMUTS PARLEY

JOHANNESBURG, Union of South Africa, Nov. 4 (AP)—Prime Minister Jan C. Smuts conferred last Sunday with British War Secretary Anthony Eden at Khartoum, Anglo-Egyptian Sudan, it was disclosed today.

HIT-RUN DRIVER GETS YEAR

Sentence of one year in the House of Correction was imposed today in Newton court on Kenneth W. Fay, 31, of Forest st., Watertown, alleged hit-and-run driver who seriously injured Joseph Coffey, 9, near his home in Pearl st., Newton, on Oct. 26.

A fine of $25 was also imposed, this on a charge of dangerous operation.

Fay appealed the sentence and fine and was held in $1500 for superior court.

The court was told that Young Coffey will be at Newton Hospital for weeks, recovering from a fractured leg and other injuries suffered when Fay's car allegedly hit the boy, tossed him up on the bumper and fender, zig-zagged down the street, shook him off, ran over him and sped away.

Sergt. Thomas J. Burke and Patrolman James S. Goddard testified that Fay admitted to them he had been drinking before the accident, but claimed he did not know he had struck anybody.

Although Fay, floorman in a Back Bay garage, pleaded not guilty to the charges a week ago, his counsel, Joseph B. Abrams, admitted a finding of guilty today and put in no defense.

"Well, I won't do any trading on the question of disposition," Judge Donald E. Mayberry commented.

Abrams pleaded that a suspended sentence would serve the ends of justice and said Fay's employer would take him back if such a suspension were granted.

But Judge Mayberry, declaring that evidence of drinking merely aggravated a case already bad enough, turned down the plea.

ITALIAN SUB TRAPPED

LONDON, Nov. 4 (INS)—An Italian submarine has been driven into Tangier Harbor in an effort to escape destruction at the hands of three British destroyers and a seaplane, according to a Reuters (British) dispatch from Tangier.

Keyhole View Told By Divorce Witness

What Patrolman Thomas B. Costin of Lynn police saw through a keyhole in a Lynn lodging house caused him to arrest Mrs. Grace E. Rice and Eugene Grant, 31, both of Lynn, the officer testified today in probate court at Salem.

Costin was a witness in the divorce action brought by Earl W. Rice of Hollingsworth st., Lynn against Grace and naming Grant as the other man.

According to the officer, neither Grace nor Grant was clad for even a slightly chilly day when he entered the room last April 18.

Judge John V. Phelan took this and several other uncontested divorce petitions under advisement.

Mrs. Helen Perfikowski of King st., Peabody, sought a divorce from Frank Perfikowski of Highland pk., Peabody, who parted from her the morning after their surprise wedding, she said, and has never lived with her since—because his mother didn't approve.

Helen testified that she and Frank went to Mason, N. H., to act as attendants at the marriage of another couple, but before the festivities were over, Helen and Frank had also got themselves married, with the other couple standing up for them.

That was on June 13, 1937, and they spent that night in Revere, after which they went to their respective homes and said nothing about the marriage.

In mid-July, 1937, Helen told her mother and a week later Frank told his mother.

Helen's mother fixed up a room for the couple at her home, the witness said but after Frank had gone home to get his things he returned and said his mother wouldn't let him leave her home.

So that was all there was to that marriage, Helen said.

GETS POSTCARD

Mrs. Mary H. Belanger of Lawrence sought divorce on a desertion charge from Emil A. Belanger of Lynn, whom she married March 8, 1924, in Haverhill.

On Dec. 12, 1932, he deserted her at White Plains, N. Y., she said. He was not working, and she found him gone when she returned from work. Two weeks later she received a postcard from him in Florida, saying he was seeking employment there.

Eighteen months later, she said, she met him in Lawrence, but he told her he would not go back living with her.

Desertion was also charged by Mrs. Catherine Cipiletti of Broad Street pl., Lynn, in seeking a divorce from Michael F. Cipiletti of Lynn.

The wife said she married him June 6, 1929, and he deserted her May 15, 1930, after a stormy 11 months of wedlock, during most of which he was drinking and refusing to stay home.

1650 Absentees Cast Hub Votes

Tomorrow is Election Day, but up to noon today 1650 registered voters of Boston had cast their ballots.

They represented more than half of the 2800 absentee voters who received ballots, out of a total of 3050 who had applied for them. The 250 who did not receive absentee ballots were found to have been unregistered.

In the 1936 presidential election, 2200 out of a total of 2400 absentees cast their ballots in Boston. This year's absentee total is an all-time record, according to the Boston Election Commission.

Japs Withdraw In China Areas

HONGKONG, Nov. 4 (AP)—Chinese dispatches reported today that the South China province of Kwangsi, which borders on French Indo China, virtually has been cleared of Japanese troops and that Chinese forces were striking swiftly to broaden their advantage.

One column of Chinese from Kwangsi, they said, is approaching Yamchow, near the Kwangtung seacoast, while another has reached Chennankwan, a strategic pass on the Kwangsi-Indo-China border, where fighting now is in progress.

Nanning, Kwangsi province capital, from which the Japanese withdrew last week, may be only the first of a series of important cities to be given up by the invaders, it was reported.

Unconfirmed Chinese reports asserted there were indications that the Japanese, in order to shorten their lines in South China, were preparing to abandon the important treaty port of Swatow.

In Chungkin, the Central Daily News, Chinese government organ, asserted that the withdrawal of Japanese troops might be in preparation for "a desperate Japanese attempt" to seize Singapore or the Dutch East Indies "before joint-British-American pressure in the Pacific causes Japan's collapse." Editor's note.

Million Aliens Fail To Register in U. S.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 4 (INS)—More than a million aliens have yet to register under the nation-wide identification program with the penalty-deadline just 53 days away, the Department of Justice announced today.

With an estimated 3,600,000 non-citizens in the country, a total of 2,559,706 had registered at the close of business Friday. Earl G. Harrison, director of the registration, was announced as satisfied with its rate of progress since it began Aug. 27.

Petain's Reply Given to Hull

WASHINGTON, Nov. 4 (AP)—Gaston Henry-Haye, the French ambassador, today delivered to Secretary Hull a message from Marshal Petain in reply to President Roosevelt's communication to him concerning Franco-American relations.

Hull said at his press conference that the question of French possessions in the western hemisphere arose during his conversation with the French ambassador but that it was not discussed to any great extent.

SCHOOL JANITOR DIES

Roderick W. Carey, 62, of Medfield st., South End, janitor at the Bennett school in Chestnut Hill ave., Brighton, was found dead in the school today by his assistant, James Swansberg of Lexington st., East Boston. Dr. Arthur J. Gorman said death was due to natural causes.

Tangier Under Spanish Rule

TANGIER, Morocco, Nov. 4 (AP)—The Spanish wiped out the last vestige of international control in Tangier today, taking complete charge of the strategic zone on the north coast of Africa on their own account.

The move consisted of an order by the high command of the Spanish occupying forces ending activities of the international control commission, the legislative assembly and the international information office.

Col. Yuste, the Spanish commander, took complete charge as the Spanish government delegate to the high commissariat of Morocco.

The Tangier zone is of vital importance in the European war because it commands the approach to the Strait of Gibraltar from the Atlantic.

Spain's action was considered significant in the light of her demands for what she calls her "rightful territories" in Africa.

U Boats Get 2 British Ships

BERLIN, Nov. 4 (INS)—German submarines and bombers sank two large British auxiliary cruisers and an armed merchantmen and damaged one destroyer, two merchant vessels, and a naval patrol boat, the Nazi high command announced today.

The two auxiliary cruisers, sunk by a U-boat, were identified as the 18,724-ton Laurentic and the 11,314-ton Patroclus, and the name of the armed merchantman, also a U-boat victim, was given as the 5376-ton Casanare.

The 19,141-ton Windsor Castle was reported to have been seriously damaged when attacked by a long-range German bomber several hundred miles west of Ireland.

Lone Bomber Breaks 24-Hour London Lull

LONDON, Nov. 4 (AP)—Londoners heard the scream of air raid sirens, the bark of anti-aircraft fire and the explosive thud of bombs late this afternoon after an interlude in the Nazi aerial siege lasting almost 24 hours.

Throughout last night there was quiet. It lasted through most of the day, but at tea time an uproar broke the unaccustomed silence and a single raider swooped into the metropolitan area, dropping several bombs.

The Sunday night of quiet was the first London had enjoyed since Sept. 7. There were reports of Nazi activity over east Anglia this morning.

Some raiders roared over the city yesterday, but the all-clear which ended the last daylight raid sounded at the time the night assaults usually begin. The only attacks during the night, the government said, were in northwestern England and eastern Scotland.

MIST OVER CHANNEL

Mist and rain continued to veil the channel today, limiting visibility.

DNB, the official German news agency, made a point of mentioning that bad weather had failed to hamper Nazi raids during Sunday, reporting that bombers had attacked a London freight yard and airports at Stradishall and Wattisham, in Suffolk. The Wattisham airport was said to have been destroyed—Editor's note.

Londoners, meanwhile, having undergone 57 successive nights of raiding, heard Minister of Home Security Herbert Morrison say in a broadcast that deep air raid shelters for all were "beyond the bounds of practical possibility."

He urged the building of more corrugated iron "Anderson shelters"; the opening of private basement shelters; increased use of floors above the ground as well as basements in strong modern buildings; and installation of bunks and inauguration of a ticket system for subway refuges.

HOUSES DEMOLISHED

On group of German raiders attacked an east Scotland town early today, the government said, and high explosive bombs "demolished some tenement houses and a small number of people was killed and injured."

Nazis Uncover Curie Radium

BERLIN, Nov. 4 (AP)—Leaden receptacles containing 18 grams of radium from the Curie Institute in Paris have been recovered from a rock-hewn cellar near the French town of Blois, on the Loire river, the Dienst Aus Deutschland news service reported today.

It said 10.5 grams have been returned to the institute and the remainder to its Belgian owners.

WIEGAND FEARS U. S. IN WAR

populations of London, Birmingham, Liverpool, Manchester, Berlin, Cologne, Hamburg, Bremen and other cities will extend to smaller towns, become general and greatly intensified.

DSTRUCTION AHEAD

As the air fleets on both sides grow destruction will keep step. England's orders for warplanes in America is a frank admission that the British empire cannot within its own resources alone smash Hitler Germany.

President Roosevelt's policy is to give England every possible help "short of war." The American people by overwhelming majority, support that policy.

The two presidential candidates, Mr. Roosevelt and Mr. Willkie, have enterde into a lively competition of promises what each will do "for England" if elected. As an American I would feel more confident of the future if they would give America priority in their promises of benefits.

President Roosevelt has promised the American people that he will not put the country into war "unless it is attacked."

HITLER MIGHT ACT

What, however, happens under the following circumstances:

Washington keeps up the legal fiction that the United tSates is neutral. We maintain "friendly" diplomatic relaitons with Germany. The United States, proud of maintaining our national honor in keeping treaties, is a solemn signatory to the Hague convention of 1907. Article six of that international treaty provides that:

"The supply in any manner, directly or indirectly, by a neutral power to a belligerent, of warships, ammunition or war material of any kind whatever, is forbidden."

President Roosevelt delivered 50 of our destroyers to England. The country applauded. Hitler stands charged as a breaker of promises and violator of treaties. I will leave it to more competent sources to say whether that does or can in conscience and in honor justify us in breaching a treaty.

What seems to me be at the moment more interesting is: The 50 destroyers are to be followed by 26,000 warplanes. It is conceivable that Hitler, to cause us to halt that stream of supply to England and turn our resources to our own defense, may one day announce that he considers the United States as "being at war with Germany."

VISIONS FOREIGN WAR

President Roosevelt would have beentrue to his promise, but we would be tobogganed into a foreign war or wars just the same.

And war with Germany would mean war with Japan under the terms of Japan's alliance with the Axis powers.

We may in these circumstances easily get into a foreign war or wars despite the well meant promises of the two presidential candidates.

That being an indisputable fact, it follows that America should give priority to armaments for American defense.

Italian Envoy In Greece Afraid To Go Home

ATHENS, Nov. 4 (AP)—Emanuele Grazzi, Italian minister to Greece, has not requested his passport, it was disclosed today, but has been asked by the Greek government to leave. # Willkie Surge Holds As Campaign Ends nation-wide radio program (NBC, CBS, MBC, from 10 p. m. to midnight, E. S. T.) arranged by the Democratic National Committee. Mr. Roosevelt will speak from Hyde Park shortly after 11 p. m. Henry A. Wallace, his partner on the ticket, also will make a final address.

At first it was thought Mr. Roosevelt might use the occasion for another major political address, but this belief was discounted after his assertion at Cleveland Saturday that he was then making his "final national address of the campaign." Present expectations were that he would simply urge all eligible voters to exercise their franchise tomorrow.

URGES ALL VOTE

In another Republican statement calling on all voters to take part in tomorrow's election, Willkie reiterated a declaration made to the Republican nation convention and to Saturday night's Madison Square Garden rally.

"I stand before you without a single pledge, promise or understanding of any kind," he said, "except for the advancement of your cause and the preservation of American democracy."

This assertion was made, he said, "despite last minute rumors which counsels of desperation spread about me to mislead voters."

"I have neither offered to nor discussed with any person any appointment to any cabinet position or any other position," he added. "And I have never authorized anyone else to do so."

Willkie asked Americans to vote "to show the world the force and power of the free ballot in a democracy dedicated to peace and progress."

"Voting is the only way our citizens have to control their government," he said. "Failure to vote is not only an abdication of the high privilege of American citizenship, but is an acquiescence in whatever loss of liberty may come, if the power of the bosses be not out-voted . . .

"Voters must remember that their vote is secret and may not be learned by any man. They can vote as they please, regardless of the party in which they may be registered.

3 WILLKIE BROADCASTS

Willkie is scheduled for three radio broadcasts today. The first, at 3:15 p. m. (EST) over CBS, is sponsored by the Associated Willkie Clubs of America on the Kathleen Norris program.

Over the same network, the nominee will join his running mate, Sen. Charles L. McNary of Oregon and Rep. Joseph W. Martin, Jr., Republican national chairman, in a program from 10:15 to 11 p. m.

He will close his campaign in a program by the Associated Willkie Clubs over all four major radio networks from midnight to 1 a. m. (EST). This program will originate from a Broadway theater (Ritz).

Democratic National Chairman Flynn first predicted a minimum of 427 electoral votes for Mr. Roosevelt, but then upped his estimate last night to an undisclosed higher figure.

Republican National Chairman Martin, meanwhile, was claiming a Willkie minimum of 324 electoral votes—a comfortable margin over the 266 necessary for election.

GENERALLY FAIR

The Weather Bureau, forecasting in another field, saw generally fair weather for most of the country tomorrow, with the possibility of some light rain in some eastern and central sections. Rain on election day has long been credited with cutting down the vote in rural areas, but the advent of good country roads has made that belief less reliable than in the past.

Generally fair weather was expected to produce a record-breaking outpouring of some 50,000,000 voters. Computations place the number of eligible voters in the country at more than 60,000,000, but the usual percentage of stay-at-homes was expected. The previous vote record was in 1936, when 45,000,000 out of 55,000,000 eligibles cast ballots, giving President Roosevent a plurality of almost 11,000,000.

To get out the maximum vote, both parties were mobilizing their armies of workers—regulars and amateurs—for the zero hour tomorrow.

FIGHTING FINISH

While the fighting finish of the presidential campaign all but preempted popular attention, the ballots tomorrow will show a long list of national, state and local offices to be filled.

There are 35 seats in the U. S. Senate to be filled, with 102 candidates in the scramble to capture them. There are 432 House seats at stake, and 979 aspirants vying for them. There are 33 governorships for which a field of 102 are contending. And there are a host of other State and local offices at issue.

The big interest in the congressional race is which party will emerge with control of the House of Representatives. It is generally conceded that to upset the Democratic majority in the Senate would require a major political miracle, since the Republicans would have to capture at least three out of the five seats in the "solid South."

SEE GAINS IN HOUSE

With regard to the House, however, no one concedes anything. Republican Chairman Martin predicted that his party would make a net gain of from 60 to 75 seats and take control. The Republicans would need to pick up only 48 seats to get a bare majority of 218. The total House membership is 435.

The Democratic counterclaim was "very little net change" in the present lineup.

Speaking in the interests of the President's campaign, Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt addresses members of the women's division of the New York State Independent Voters committee at reception in Gotham's Hotel Roosevelt. Mrs. Roosevelt and Mrs. Henry A. Wallace, wife of the President's running mate, were guests of honor at the affair.

Worried Farley Asks N. Y. Democrats Vote

NEW YORK, Nov. 4 (AP) — James A. Farley, chairman of the Democratic State Committee, urged upstate party workers to "put forth every effort" on Election Day and added:

"There never was a time during the years that have passed in the campaigns in which we have worked together, where I have been more deeply concerned than at the present time for the success of the Democratic Party in the state of New York."

State Fight Waxes Hot in Final Drive

Hill," referring to Executive Councilor Daniel H. Coakley.

Interesting was the appearance of Thomas J. Buckley, "unknown" Democratic candidate for State auditor. He was along with Dever, as were other State ticket candidates, through the afternoon.

CHARGES FLY

While Dever appealed to his audience to "get out and vote," the Republicans were making ready for a "victory celebration," if last-minute speeches could be believed.

Today Dever charged Governor Saltonstall with "smirch campaign tactics."

But the governor had branded Dever with deceit in his own tactics, misrepresentation and with having Coakley as his No. 1 br. intruster.

Striking back hard in the Arena, where he addressed 7000 persons, Atty.-Gen. Dever accused the Governor of deliberately attempting to fool the people of the state when he promised opportunity for youth and security for the aged. He said the people will resent Saltonstall's failure to carry out his promises.

Dever predicted the voters would retaliate against the governor.

All the candidates for state and national tickets were seated on the platforms and in addition, Joe Kennedy, Jr., son of the ambassador, and John Roosevelt, son of the President, were at the Democratic hustings.

WILLKIE A SOLDIER

Heading the big guns at the Arena, Sen. David I. Walsh called the roll of those who had benefited by his labors in the Senate, enumerating toilers, manufacturers racial groups, veterans, the unemployed, the mothers and wound up by declaring that no man in the Senate had done more for national defense.

Henry Parkman, Republican, seeking Walsh's post, continued his attacks on "our straddling senior Senator." He asserted that Walsh advocated a "course of weasel words and weakness," that he has been an obstructionist and voted against conscription.

Cong. Joe Martin at Mechanics Hall replied to the attack on him by President Roosevelt who, he said: "with the spirit of a Hitler" tries to purge anyone who has the courage to oppose him. He said Roosevelt's Boston address was "full of truth distortions and misstatements of facts." Martin called the New England farmers the orphan children of Henry Wallace.

Senator Henry Cabot Lodge evoked the wildest demonstration of all when he said Wendell Willkie, if elected, will be the first President of the United States who actually served as a buck private in the World War.

NAME BRINGS BOOS

"He did not see the World War from a swivel chair, he did not see it from the deck of a battleship. He has looked war in the eye. To him, it is not a mere academic abstraction. It is a terrible reality and he hates it, because of its cruelty and inhumanity and because he is a builder and a doer who loaths waste and destruction," said Lodge.

The name of Roosevelt brought booing from the Mechanics Hall audience and likewise the name of Dan Coakley. Frederick Cook, secretary of state, was given a tremendous ovation when introduced as "the Grand Old Man of the Republicans."

Boss Cleared In 'Hot Foot' By Bartender

If a bartender indulges in the playful, but sometimes painful pastime of giving a customer the "hot foot," the tavern proprietor is not liable for damages unless it is done for his benefit or interest, the Massachusetts Supreme Court ruled today.

The full bench decision, written by Justice Charles H. Donahue, concerned the suit of Joseph Sullivan of Rockland against William P. Crowley, proprietor of the Blue Ribbon Spa in that town.

Testimony was that on Feb. 2, 1933, Sullivan fell asleep in the Crowley tavern after drinking two glasses of beer. One of the bartenders, Charles Hunt in Crowley's absence, gave Sullivan the "hot foot," which set fire to a trouser leg. The victim's leg was burned to the extent that he was unable to work for five weeks, it was testified.

The Supreme Court held that the bartender's act was not within the scope of his employment or liability, as it was "for his own interest or for the benefit of the tavern owner.

NEW YORK VOTE MAY SWING ELECTION

By ARCHIBALD M. CROSSLEY

Voters of the nation may not know the decision in this close finish until some time on Wednesday. A repetition of the Wilson-Hughes battle of 1916 is entirely possible. In that year morning newspapers announced the election of Hughes, and afternoon papers the election of Wilson. The wartime President took office by virtue of 1904 votes. If that number of Wilson voters in California had swung to Hughes, he would have been elected with a majority of the electoral college.

Today the situation is primarily a battle between the city of New York and the remainder of the State. If New York city piles up more than enough Roosevelt votes to offset the Willkie lead upstate the State's 47 electoral votes go to Roosevelt, and his re-election is virtually assured on the basis of latest poll data.

Oregon might conceivably overcome Roosevelt's present four-point lead, but it is not now considered likely. It is also possible that some small state like New Mexico might just barely tip the scales to Willkie. But on the other hand for that to happen Willkie would have to count upon holding all of his states and taking the pivotal states now slightly in the Roosevelt column.

N. Y. VOTE SURVEY

Gain of New York and Pennsylvania or New York and Illinois by Roosevelt would seem to assure him the election. In fact, the combination of New York and any other large pivotal state would seem to do it. But the situation in these states is so close that a few thousand votes will determine the result, and it will be well into the night bfore any large state is completely reported.

Considerable see-sawing is anticipated as the returns pile up. Albany County, New York, with machine organization, should be expected to go to Roosevelt by a fairly small margin. Bronx County by a very large margin. Kings and New York counties are expected to go to Roosevelt by about 2 to 1, with Queens County close, quite possibly favoring Willkie. The remainder of the state should go for Willkie by about 2 to 1 except in the counties with large cities where the margin will be closer.

In general, in the pivotal group of states, counties without large cities should be expected to go for Willkie by roughly 55 to 45. This situation will vary somewhat in a few states where major industries are located in small towns.

CITIES FAVOR F. D.

Connecticut counties, for example, should in general run very close. Mining counties of Pennsylvania and Illinois might even go over to Roosevelt wherever the farm and other vote is not extensive enough to match the industrial vote. Counties with certain types of farms particularly affected by the AAA may act differently from others. Race concentrations will also have an effect.

Large cities will normally be found on the Roosevelt side, or close, but there will be some instances when the result including the organized vote will be on the Republican side. The extent of the expected New Deal leadership in most cities will vary from a few percentage points to a 2 to 1 ratio. Cities with great industrial populations, large percentages of Negroes, highly organized labor, etc., are expected to run high for Roosevelt.

The election will be decided by the relative turnout of voters, and by the choice in large cities. Because of the tremendous importance of cities in the final result, a special poll of them has been taken over the week-end and reported by telegraph. Tomorrow, the results of this last-minute cross-section will be used with other data to provide a final roundup of what to expect the returns to show for the pivotal states.

SWING OF VOTES

Eight out of ten interviewed had made their decisions at least two months ago. In each of the past two weeks 4% are reported to have determined their choices. The effects of the campaigning are shown by the answers to the question: "When did you reach a decision?"

| | Decided for Willkie | Roosevelt |
|---|---|---|
| More than 4 weeks before Oct. 29 | 45.5% | 54.5% |
| Three to 4 weeks before Oct. 29 | 58.1% | 41.9% |
| Two weeks before Oct. 29 | 64.8% | 35.2% |
| One week before Oct. 29 | 51.0% | 49.0% |

Roosevelt's favor was running high over a month before Oct. 29. The whirlwind Willkie campaign then lined up large blocks of the undecided voters. During approximately a week before Oct. 29 the Roosevelt political campaign began in earnest, and the two contenders were breaking about even on late decisions.

Vanderbilt Leads R. I.; Maine G. O. P. Victory Seen

PROVIDENCE, R. I., Nov. 4—With a hairline decision expected, Gov. William H. Vanderbilt and the entire Republican state ticket today staged final rallies in doubtful cities and towns.

It was considered that Vanderbilt held an edge in his fight for re-election and it was freely predicted that Willkie would get Rhode Island's four electoral votes by the narrowest of margins.

Hurting the Roosevelt chances, Republicans declared, was the campaigning of U. S. Sen. Peter G. Gerry, seeking re-election, who thus far has failed to mention the President or the New Deal.

Maine

AUGUSTA, Me., Nov. 4—Not even the most optimistic New Dealer would claim today this Pine Tree state for President Roosevelt.

Everyone admitted Maine would repeat her action of supporting a Republican—as it did alone with Vermont in 1936—and the only question was the extent of the majority.

Well informed political experts predicted that Willkie would carry Maine by a majority ranging from 32,000 to 50,000. Most of the national polls show Maine favoring Willkie over Roosevelt by a 60 to 40 ratio.

New Hampshire

CONCORD, N. H., Nov. 4—Republican and Democratic forces mapped a final drive today, concentrating their attention on the largest population centers of Concord, Manchester, and Nashua.

Both parties claimed final victory as speakers took the field for concluding rallies.

A record vote of possibly 225,000 votes was predicted when would exceed by far the 218,000 cast in 1936. Most of the increase was predicted because of absentee ballots Deputy Secretary of State Harry E. Jackson announced that 26 towns and several of the 11 cities had requested such ballots.

Connecticut

Both Democrats and Republicans claimed the state—the latter on the basis of the Willkie triumphant tour and the latter on an equally loud reception accorded Roosevelt a few days ago.

Election Day Weather to Be Generally Fair

WASHINGTON, Nov. 4 (AP)—Voters in most of the country probably will have fair skies on election day, but there may be occasional rain in some central and eastern sections.

The weather bureau, in a special advance forecast, said that light rains might fall during daylight hours in portions of the middle and lower Mississippi valley, in the region bordering on the Great Lakes and in parts of the west Gulf states and southern plains.

In the north Atlantic states, the forecast stated, rain was not likely until election night.

Music of Nye Mayhew Is Beachcomber Thrill

By SAM BERENSON

Broadway coming to Boston tonight . . . more particularly swings into that top-notch supper club, the new Versailles . . . where Manager Al Toxier presents along with a gala floor show, 16—count 'em, 16—Manhattan lovelies to add further zest to a slick offering.

KARLE ROHDE
Blinstrub's Maestro

Its entertainment in the Big Time manner—eye-filling beauty, a colorful setting, and the toe-tempting rhythm of the capable Jacques Renard crew . . . We mentioned last column that Zeke Zarchy had left Glenn Miller, that "Cootie" Williams had parted ways with Duke Ellington and we note now that tromboning Al Jordan has kissed the boys good-bye in the Gene Krupa choir . . . all of which lifts a pointing finger to the Cocoanut Grove and to Mickey Alpert, who, year after year in this now-you-see-me-how-you-don't profession has remained steadfast to his Boston audience . . . which may well account for the popularity of Mickey's suave downbeating . . . and for the popularity of this personable young maestro himself . . . With so much of the town's attention focused on the Mayfair, after its presentation of Mitzie Green, this chic salon makes known the fact that similar starry headliners will keynote the season here . . . Romo Vincent opens Wednesday.

Many of the Boston night clubs will present the election returns tomorrow night.

The Parisian atmosphere of the Latin Quarter lows long enough to the zip of the fall air to offer a revue on the collegiate motif . . . a sparkling Keit – produced dance routine, featuring the lovely ladies of the Quarte ensemble . . . a galaxy of "name" performers . . . and that nimble pair of Bruno and Candullo bands . . . Don't look now but we've just noticed the lovely Southern accent of that pretty Chinese lady, Virginia Dare . . . Virginia, suh, comes from the state of the same name and is the wife of George Dare, manager of the New York Den . . . A clever magician indeed is Tung-Pin-Soo who has been mystifying patrons at Southern Vienna Room with a style of legerdemain that is very smooth . . . an excellent take-in . . . The New York World Fair waited two years for it, but an attendance of over half-million passed through the gates on closing day . . . An excellent revue this week at the Blue Room of the Hotel Westminster where a capable variety of entertainment blends with the Jimmie McHale music to give gad-abouts a most pleasant calling place . . . very nice.

It's the Nye Mayhew music at the colorful Beachcomber, which is one more reason why the turnstiles at this exotic rendezvous have been clicking so smartly . . . here's delightful music, with all the flavor of the South Seas and the charm of the islands, skillfully whipped together for the entertainment of Boston audiences . . . There's a leather-pushing motif in the Manhattan-After-Dark scene . . . Jack Dempsey's former 8th Avenue Cafe shortly opens as Roger's Corner . . . While Benny Leonard again returns to the restaurant business . . . Plenty of atmosphere at the popular Hurricane where a sarong-styled entertainment menu and tropical band set the pace for a delightful evening out . . . jot this down atop your memo pad . . . ## "I wuz thinkin'...."

by Izzy Ort

Hello folks! My neck is stiff from taking bows these past few days! It all started last Monday when I rolled into La Guardia Field on the New York plane. Stepping out of the plane, I fell into a tremendous crowd of people who were cheering wildly. Could they be on hand to meet Izzy Ort? For a minute, I thought so, until I found out that it was a turnout for the President, who was inspecting the airport.

I got over that, but darned if the same thing didn't happen when I rolled into the South Station a couple of days later; crowds cheering, etc. And the President was there again! At least I travel in good company!

I'm taking bows also for having picked our own Mike Kaplan to send Milt Arons to sleep in the daisies, which he did. Here, amid the hubbub of my El Tropico Room, high above the swirling throngs on Essex st., I'm pounding these lines out with one finger to declare that South Boston's "Skipper" Harry McDonough is my choice for an All-Scholastic berth, and if he doesn't get it from all the sports writers in town—there ain't no justice!

Speaking of sports, the sports-about-town who get into my El Tropico Room several nights every week, are going to be in heaven, as I've brought back a new herd of Cuban and Latin entertainers, singers and dancers that'll set 'em back on their heels. Hand me my maraccas; I'm leading the rhumba band!

It's just one merry whirl after another in my place, and I'm happy as a six-day bicycle rider on the last lap. Don Humbert, the pioneer radio crooner, plays in my Grill every afternoon. Come in and enjoy his music. Election returns will be given Tuesday evening. Adv.

EVENING AMERICAN, MONDAY, NOV. 4, 1940

WHICH IS YOUR MAN?

(Provided by the Democratic National Committee)

Wendell Willkie's supporters have failed to advance a SINGLE reason why he should be elevated to the exalted office of the Presidency.

Public record? He has none. When President Roosevelt was saving the nation from disaster in 1933, he was fighting against TVA.

Business ability? He was never a business man. He was a lawyer and lobbyist most of his adult life. Then he became president of a utility holding company to handle FINANCES.

A good organizer and leader? One of the worst. The Republican campaign has been chaotic under his management and the Republicans in Congress have spurned his leadership completely.

Is he sound, stable and of statesmanlike vision? He is none of those things.

In three months of campaigning, he has made more errors and mistakes than President Roosevelt has made in seven years in the White House. He has contradicted himself on every vital issue of the campaign. He is the first candidate in history who has had to retract his own "misspoken" words.

With the Greatest of Ease

Do you believe that such a man, inexperienced, irresponsible, careless in words and attitude, should be elected President at one of the most critical times in the life of the United States?

A GREAT RECORD

Against him the Democratic Party offers President Roosevelt. What is his record?

He saved capitalism from the folly of its own leaders and he rescued the United States from economic chaos and the brink of revolution.

He sponsored the finest program of social reform ever placed upon the statute books.

He built up the finest Navy in the world for YOUR protection.

Before others were awake to the danger, he warned his countrymen to prepare for defense against a world thrust against democracy.

He has made the Army, the air force and the Navy stronger than they ever were before in peace time.

This, in brief, is the record of Franklin D. Roosevelt.

Which man is better fitted to lead America during the next four years?

Woodrow Wilson said that in the fiery glow of public eminence "some men grow and some men swell."

For three months now, the public has had a chance to gauge the merit and measure of Wendell Willkie.

Has he grown? Has he left you with the deep impress of a great public man?

When he talked down to "you guys" and referred to the President as "that fellow," do you think he talked as Lincoln would have talked, or Washington or Jefferson, in times of stress and trouble?

Has he impressed you as the type of calm, far-seeing statesman who should be entrusted with the keeping of your safety, your security and your happiness during the next four years?

HOPE OF AMERICA

History very often forgets a man when the echo of his footsteps dies away. It will NOT forget President Roosevelt. He will be accorded a place in the company of those illustrious Presidents who manned the watchtowers and sounded the tocsin when danger threatened the Republic.

Eight years ago, under the buffeting of a fierce economic gale, the nation almost floundered because of the lack of a competent pilot at the wheel. We saw with our own eyes what happens when weak hands hold the tiller and timid souls chart the course. It takes a brave Captain to lead a brave people.

President Roosevelt has rekindled the flame of patriotism in the hearts of millions of his fellow Americans. He is idolized by the peoples of Latin America, respected by the dictators of Europe, and hated, with a consuming hatred, by the exploiters and malefactors of Wall Street.

In this hour of trouble and crisis, the nation needs Roosevelt's leadership more than it ever needed it before.

To supplant him by electing an inexperienced lawyer, who never held public office in his life, would be a reckless gamble with the nation's fate.

Roosevelt is the hope of America. Protect yourself by voting for his re-election.

Roosevelt Aides Slur Immigrant Blood; Fear Of War Sweeps Nation

(Provided by the National Committee of Democrats-for-Willkie)

If you, Mr. and Mrs. American Citizen, or your parents or your grandparents were born in other lands, you should note that Mr. Roosevelt's National Committee has now started to smear YOU.

It has been smearing Mr. Willkie ever since he was nominated—on the ground that his grandparents were foreign-born.

It now takes a slap at the millions of Americans whose ancestors did NOT come over on the Mayflower, or did NOT fight in the Revolutionary War, but who DID land here in later years as immigrants, at Castle Garden or at Ellis Island.

In a broadside authorized by the Democratic National Committee and published in the New York Daily News and scores of other newspapers throughout the United States, this statement is made:

"We all know that dictators are made of men like Willkie and Huey Long, not made from the early American blood, like Roosevelt's."

Please note that sentence, and especially the words: "—Not made from the early American blood, like Roosevelt's."

---

The majority of the people of the United States are "not made from the early American blood, like Roosevelt's."

The majority of the people of New York city, of Chicago, Boston, Detroit, Philadelphia, Pittsburgh—of all our great cities—are certainly "not made from the early American blood, like Roosevelt's."

Mr. Willkie is "not made from the early American blood, like Roosevelt's." In common with millions of the rest of us, his grandparents were Americans by choice, not because they happened to be born here.

But Mr. Roosevelt's National Committee now broadcasts the statement that dictators are only made from men like Willkie, a "new" American—never from the old "early American blood, like Roosevelt's."

So our land, to which millions of us, or our parents, or our grandparents, came in search of liberty, is in danger of dictatorship only from "new" Americans like us, not from "the early American blood, like Roosevelt's!"

Mr. Roosevelt's National Committee has authorized and is now circulating that UN-Democratic insult to millions of our citizens.

It is a false, cruel, contemptible slur, and Mr. Roosevelt and the little group of ambitious men around him know it.

---

Why is it that people everywhere are perplexed and worried by Mr. Roosevelt's grab for a Third Term? Why is it that the shadow of things to come, if he is continued in power, disturbs or frightens so many men and women?

It is because—

The people know his impulsive nature, know he loves to play with fire. They fear he is leading us into war.

They know that his gas-pipe machine guns and stove pipe cannons and dummy tanks and planes "on order" cannot defend our homes.

They hear him refer—as he did on the radio Wednesday—to Ambassador Kennedy as "MY Ambassador." They thought Mr. Kennedy was "THEIR" Ambassador, not Mr. Roosevelt's.

They see a trusted Roosevelt secretary kick a colored patrolman and injure him while the patrolman was performing his duty. They are shocked at such "Gestapo"-like arrogance on the part of one of Mr. Roosevelt's own inner circle.

They see a photograph of Mr. Roosevelt laughing gaily as he signs the draft act—the act which affects the lives of millions of our sons. They cannot understand how anyone—least of all a President of the United States, could laugh, at such a solemn moment.

And they are realizing that however well-intentioned Mr. Roosevelt may be, he is not the man to guide us safely through this critical time when our democracy is at stake and the lives of our young men may be imperilled. They can't leave the fate of these in his hands to play with.

ROOSEVELT+THIRD TERM=WAR
WILLKIE+NATIONAL DEFENSE=PEACE

might not carry a majority of electoral votes.

"As of Sunday noon, in a nation-wide telegraphic poll, the survey showed the President with 52 per cent of the major party vote, to 48 per cent for Willkie. But a lead of 52 per cent by no means spells victory for Roosevelt. What counts in a presidential election is electoral votes.

HINGES ON BREAKS

"Political history indicates that when a Democratic candidate has 52 per cent of the popular vote, it is an even race because of the surplus Democratic majorities in the South.

"The Democrat, Grover Cleveland, in 1888, had 51.4 per cent—a majority—and yet lost the election to Harrison in the electoral college.

"In 1916 Wilson had 51.7 per cent and barely won in electoral college, with only 11 electoral votes to spare.

"On the basis of today's results, either party could claim victory on Tuesday, depending on the breaks in certain areas.

"Roosevelt has 21 sure states (Democratic by more than 54 per cent) accounting for 198 electoral votes. Willkie has 8 sure states (Republican by more than 54 per cent) accounting for 59 electoral votes.

GEN. JOHNSON SPEAKS

"In between are 19 states with 274 electoral votes, where neither candidate leads by more than 54 per cent. These states hold the key to victory or defeat for the two candidates.

"The survey found Roosevelt holding a slight advantage in nine states with 78 electoral votes, and Willkie holding an advantage in 10 states with 196 electoral votes."

Gen. Hugh S. Johnson, once a New Dealer but now an avowed enemy of the New Deal, said today in his syndicated newspaper column:

"The result is no longer in doubt. Willkie will win."

Gen. Johnson prefaced this prediction with the statement:

"As the election draws nearer, it becomes clearer that smear doesn't work. Many observers believe that the silent Willkie upsurge may bring a landslide.

DEAL CUTS SEEN

"The young amateurs may not understand machine politics, but they know how to ring doorbells.

"In going around the country, I hear that everywhere—from Lansing, Detroit, Cleveland and Chicago to Kingston in New York. I am told, not by Willkie fans, but by worried New Deal friends of mine."

The Fortune Magazine pre-election survey, released for publication today, stated that President Roosevelt still holds 52.2 per cent of the popular vote in the country, but that Willkie is gaining.

The Fortune survey percentages cover the 85.3 percentage of the voters who are going to vote for major party candidates.

It is stated that the rest either did not know how they would vote, would not disclose how they intended voting, or else were voting for minor party candidates or not at all.

OUTCOME IN DOUBT

The possibilities indicated by the survey figures, the Fortune release said, range from a substantial victory for Roosevelt, but not a landslide, to a narrow victory for Willkie in the electoral college, without a popular majority.

In the Wall Poll, headed by Edward J. Wall, director of the American Opinion Forecasts, Inc., of New York, it was said today:

"Based on returns of recorded public sentiment, the standing of the candidates is so close that it is impossible from a scientific point of view to predict the victor.

"Discounting Mr. Roosevelt's plurality in the South, which gives the Democratic candidate an artificial overall advantage, the two candidates head into the home stretch absolutely neck and neck, and no poll is scientific enough to measure the refinements or predict the outcome of a contest so close.

WATCH NEW YORK

With the New York State and its important 47 electoral votes in the doubtful column in practically all other surveys, the New York Daily News straw ballot report today stated that Roosevelt will win the State "by a plurality over Willkie so small that the race is a foto finish."

Percentages, this poll said, are to date: Roosevelt, 50.068; Willkie, 49.932.

This is a hair breadth difference of less than one-seventh of 1 per cent in a total of 51,991 straw ballots cast for the two candidates.

Meanwhile, in a statement issued in New York by Alan Valentine, executive director of the National Committee of Democrats-for-Willkie, it was predicted that from 21 to 26 per cent of registered Democrats in 37 states outside of the South will vote for Willkie tomorrow.

"After making careful allowance for the margin of error inherent in the most carefully conducted poll," this statement said, "the percentage of the snuff indicates that the organized Democrats for Willkie and those Democrats who have not formally joined those clubs but who feel as we do will be a heavy and perhaps decisive factor in electing Mr. Willkie."

Edwin F. Jaeckle, Republican state chairman in New York, issued a joint statement with Miss Jane Todd, vice-chairman of the Republican state committee, in which he amplified an earlier prediction by asserting that Willkie would get a margin of more than 250,000 votes in New York state.

MIDWEST SURVEY

In the Midwest poll conducted by the Chicago Daily Tribune, Willkie today had 48 per cent of the 128,055 already tabulated in Illinois, the same percentage as he had last Wednesday.

Chicago returns in the poll gave Roosevelt 57.1 per cent, also the same mark as last Wednesday.

In 23 downstate Illinois cities in which new canvasses were taken by the Tribune, Willkie got 6 of a point more than two weeks ago. In 155 cities so far in the Tribune tables, the Republican had 56.9 per cent of the straws.

Four years ago Chicago, where Roosevelt now is strongest, cast 42.6 per cent of all the Republican-Democratic votes in Illinois. On this same basis, the projected percentages for all Illinois today were Roosevelt 48.1; Willkie 51.9.

Canvasses in 14 Wisconsin cities which supplied 4731 straws said to increase Willkie's percentage 0.1 of a point in Illinois' port. In 12 cities in Indiana, Wendell has 48.1 per cent of 2... votes gathered. Four years ago the same cities gave Landon 41 per cent of the vote.

Titled two years ago Camp Edwards, this reservation is the fastest growing thing in Massachusetts. By the first of next year, the Yankee Division may be quartered there. In any event, it is likely that most of the newest draftees or volunteers will pursue their secondary terms of Army duty at this camp. Hammers, nails, screwdrivers are going night and day. Overtime is a common term, and the workmen on an unlimited number of buildings have caught the spirit. For the Man in Arms in these trying days, his country is making ready the best barracks possible. According to present plans the Army's primary schooling will take about seven weeks at Fort Devens. # Shall We Follow Statesmen?

WASHINGTON JEFFERSON JACKSON

WENDELL LEWIS WILLKIE has ably completed the arduous task of conducting a campaign for the Presidency of the United States.

Essentially this has been a ONE ISSUE campaign, since the one thing uppermost in every mind is the THIRD TERM.

The American people must now decide if a President in office can utilize the vast powers of that office to retain it for whatever period his own ambition persuades him is justifiable.

That decision overshadows all else in this campaign.

But of course Mr. Willkie was under the necessity of demonstrating his own capacity for the Presidency.

The tradition against the third term presupposes that the American national life is capable of providing a competent line of Presidential succession, that the American democratic system is capable of producing it, and that the American people have the wit to uphold and enforce the system.

We have to lose faith in the inherent character of American life, in the basic principles of the American system, and the fundamental intelligence and patriotism of the American people to accept the theory that this vital democratic line of succession cannot be maintained.

---

WENDELL WILLKIE has been before the American people now for many weeks under the responsibility of proving that faith in American life, in the American system and the American people would not be misplaced in his election as President.

This he has done to the complete satisfaction of all fair-minded people.

He has done it so completely, in fact, that it is almost universally acknowledged that if tomorrow's election were to be decided on purely domestic issues alone he would be overwhelmingly elected.

He is known to us all as entirely competent for the Presidency.

This removes the last excuse for a third term for Mr. Roosevelt, if any excuse ever existed.

Only if there was no other qualified American available to take his place, would excuse or reason exist for re-electing Mr. Roosevelt at the cost of abandoning our historic safeguard against one-man government and dictatorship.

Only if in the person of Mr. Roosevelt we had our sole SAFE repository of national confidence, national welfare and national security, would our re-election of him be justified.

Mr. Roosevelt is NOT such a man.

There was a wealth of men qualified for the Presidency in the Democratic Party, but Mr. Roosevelt would not permit the nomination of any one of them to succeed him.

There was a wealth of eminently qualified presidential candidates in the Republican Party, and Wendell Willkie was chosen from among them in a free, open convention.

---

NOW, if the third term tradition is as important and valuable to the continuation of our American democracy as such immortal Americans as Washington, Jefferson, Jackson, Lincoln and Cleveland—to name but a few of an innumerable many—thought it to be, why should we put the overwhelming ambition of Franklin D. Roosevelt above the sound principle which has always been considered the keystone of our way of life?

Let us remind ourselves that this fateful and perhaps fatal step, once taken, can never be retraced.

Mr. Roosevelt may indeed not become a dictator, although his inclination is plainly in that direction and his record is indisputably of that character.

But if the third term tradition is broken tomorrow, the ultimate American dictatorship which may ensue will stem as surely from this tragic day as all dictatorships over free people have their evil roots in the FIRST ABANDONMENT of democratic processes.

CONCLUDES CRUSADE FOR DEMOCRACY

Wendell L. Willkie Pauses Beside Liberty Bell

BOSS HAGUE BOSS FLYNN BOSS KELLY

Or Bow to Little Hitlers?

---

LET us also remember that Mr. Roosevelt, in the whole course of this campaign, has not himself said ONE WORD in defense or justification of the third term.

True, his job-holding satellites have said plenty.

The New Deal bureaucrats like Wallace, Ickes, Hopkins and Perkins, who have a strangle hold on our American life and cling to it like death itself, have said plenty.

The little Hitlers of America, like Bosses Hague, Flynn and Kelly, whose Totalitarian regimes have made a mockery of democracy in many American communities, have said plenty.

But Mr. Roosevelt himself has NOT ONCE MET THE THIRD TERM ISSUE.

However, the American people must now meet it—SQUARELY.

They cannot do it by half measures, or by postponement.

If they uphold the third term tradition tomorrow, it will undoubtedly endure forever—because it is unthinkable that Congress will ever permit the situation to arise again, but will speedily incorporate into the Constitution what has always been our inviolable practice and principle.

If they abandon the third term tradition tomorrow, it will be LOST FOREVER, not just for a brief time but for ALL TIME.

This is an irremediable mistake we are contemplating, an act of false and disastrous judgment which will imperil American liberty as long as it survives—and be the ineradicable epitaph on the tombstone of American liberty when it no longer survives.

THE third term issue is bigger than Mr. Roosevelt, bigger than Mr. Willkie, bigger than even our own national interests and responsibilities which the American people carry with them to the polls tomorrow.

It is as big as the FREEDOM all future Americans are entitled to enjoy, as big as the vast future which lies beyond the illimitable horizons of TODAY AND TOMORROW.

Let us listen this, perhaps, one last time to all those revered and beloved American statesmen we most honor and respect—those who have said the third term is a dangerous and an evil thing.

Let us STAY AMERICAN WITH WILLKIE.

Why Spare Russia?

SECRETARY OF STATE CORDELL HULL made a strange omission in his otherwise complete and forthright denunciation of dictatorships, in his speech before the National Press Club in Washington.

In reviewing what he called "one of the saddest and most crucial decades in the history of mankind," he NAMED the aggressor nations which have preyed on helpless peoples—that is, he named ALL BUT ONE.

Why did Secretary Hull fail to mention Soviet Russia as one of the nations guilty of "brutal invasion and ruthless extinguishment of the independence and freedom of many countries?"

Can it possibly be that Mr. Hull and the American State Department and the American government are COURTING the favor of Russia, conniving with Russia in a secret partnership repulsive to the American people?

It has already given grave pause to the American people that President Roosevelt grouped Russia with the "Friendly Governments" eligible for purchase of American war materials.

Now that Secretary Hull, either by omission or intent, has seemingly given silent approval to Russian barbarism, while denouncing other nations' barbaric acts, there is graver pause.

Is the United States to be confronted, like France, with a "decision already made," from which there is no appeal and against which there can be no criticism?

Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt -:- MY DAY

HYDE PARK, N. Y., Nov. 4—I drove to New York City Saturday but I hardly had time to look out of the car because so much work had piled up on my desk. I had worked Friday night until two in the morning, but there was still much to be done so I took my check books with me and balanced them on the way to New York. I also read my papers on the way and a speech by Mr. Antonini had made at a Labor party meeting which I was very glad to see.

We stopped at the Concourse Plaza Hotel on the way to the city. I had the pleasure of attending, for a few minutes, the luncheon for the Bronx County women workers, with Mr. Edward J. Flynn and various other officials. These women work hard, not only during campaigns, but through the rest of the year. I am always happy to have the opportunity to thank them for what they do.

From there I went to lunch with a friend and met Mrs. William H. Good and Mrs. Henry Wallace at the Biltmore Hotel. I went in with them to greet the women of the New York Women's Democratic Club. Then we were off behind a police escort to the lunch which the Queens County women workers were having. Our escort was extremely good and we made our trip in record time, though once or twice we held our breath when we skimmed past a car which did not stop.

In Queens there was a large and enthusiastic crowd. The presiding officer remembered our first meeting together in 1925, which was very pleasant for there is something very warming in reminiscing about work done many years ago.

Mrs. Caroline O'Day and I can go back to the early days of women's participation in party work. Miss Harriet May Mills was the pioneer worker and Mrs. O'Day helped her, and later I helped Mrs. O'Day. It is good to see now how useful these women have become and how secure they feel in their ability to be of service to the party.

By 4:45 we were at the Hotel Roosevelt to attend a meeting for the independent voters, over which Mrs. Edgerton Parsons presided. More people came than could get into one room, so Mrs. Lehman, Mrs. Wallace and I went to a second room, where Mr. Morris Davidson presided over the overflow meeting.

Here again there seemed to be much enthusiasm. Whatever happens on election day, I feel sure of one thing, that many people have given their services in this campaign and will vote for the President because of real devotion to the program for which he has stood in the past few years.

AL JOLSON RUSHES TO AVERT LOSS

By Leonard Lyons

NEW YORK, Nov. 4—Al Jolson has wagered $20,000 at odds of almost two-to-one on Roosevelt's re-election . . . Last night Jolson was trying to make the following bet: If he could get 4 to 1 he'd wager $5000 that Willkie wins in N. Y., Ohio, Michigan, Illinois and Massachusetts—all of them doubtful States . This, explains Jolson, is a way of insuring his bet on Roosevelt—because if Willkie fails to win all these five States, then he feels Roosevelt's re-election is assured.

HUNT DEPT.: A Westerner who had been to Tibet brought back some chukka partridges for his private hunting preserves in this country. The partridges, which are wild owl in their native place, became domesticated and soon learned to walk slowly toward the huntsman and baffled pointers set for the kill . . . He presented two of these partridges to Fred Wildon, head of Bellowes & Co., who housed them at his farm in Norfolk, Ct. . . . The partridges were no trouble at all except that they brought utter confusion to a man who lived two miles away—and who rushed to his extensive library as soon as his unbelieving eyes beheld these tame birds, which he had been taught were wild and existed only in Tibet . . . The puzzled man, who is still poring over his research books, is Roy Chapman Andrews, the explorer.

VALERIE PARKS

MOVIES DEPT.: Cliff Work, the Universal producer, Thursday night related some of the problems which confronted him in the production of the new John Barrymore movie, "The Invisible Woman" . . . "Throughout the picture," said Work, "the Screen Actors Guild compelled me to employ a stand-by for the Invisible Woman."

AVIATION DEPT.: Billy Rose was describing the new air show he hopes to produce, with hundreds of planes dipping in unison to musical strains played in a nearby Zeppelin. "And when I do this show," Rose vowed, "it'll solve the unemployment problem here, because I'll need so many people to work it properly" . . . "It's really fantastic," a listener complimented Billy, "but tell me—with all those planes flying in the sky, how are you going to get paying customers inside the stadium? What's to prevent people for miles around from staying where they are and watching the show?" . . . "That's what I mean about solving the unemployment problem," replied Rose, clenching his fist and extending his index and middle fingers. "I'd have to hire 100,000 men to go around like this—poking the eyes of those who look and won't pay."

BUSINESS DEPT.: When George S. Kaufman engaged Mary Wickes to play the comedy nurse in "The Man Who Came to Dinner" he advised her not to employ an agent. He promised that he'd save her the usual 10 per cent agent's fee by seeing to it that she would play the same role in the movie version of the play when and if it was sold . . . Warner Bros. purchased the movie rights some months ago, with Kaufman & Hart agreeing to produce, direct and write it . . . The first person hired for that movie version is Mary Wickes, who signed her contract last week.

EMPLOYMENT DEPT.: Valerie Parks, the stripteaser now at the Ellinge Theater, secured this engagement when her manager rendered an effective spiel to the producers of the show . . . "Miss Parks is one of the best strip-teasers in the field," was his assurance. "She's famous throughout the land" . . . "But I've never heard of her," the manager was told. "How successful has she been?" . . . "She's worked so steadily," was the answer, "that for the last eight months she has hardly had a stitch of clothes on her back."

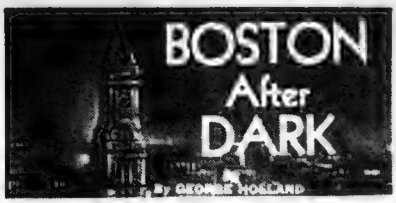
PERSONALS: Clare Boothe never attracted as much publicity as she has been getting the last few days—broadcasting for Willkie, challenging Dorothy Thompson and having her speeches published in almost every newspaper throughout America. Although Miss Boothe has written three successful plays, last week was the week when she really achieved national attention.



MONDAY MUSINGS: Bostonians watching the Army-Notre Dame game—and who knew that Henry (Hank) Mazur of Lowell was a transfer from Boston College to West Point—couldn't help lamenting about what the Eagles had lost . . . Hank was the outstanding man in the ball game . . . The sort of play young Mazur flashed at the Yankee Stadium would make him a "must" in any first-string backfield.

WITH MOST OF THE "Monday morning quarterbacks" criticizing the Army decision, which was a coach's decision—to attempt a field goal with an all-important first down needing only inches to set it up, a report we believe to be authoritative gives the Army staff's viewpoint . . . Army had reached a peak in condition and smoothness . . . The cadets were morticed at a fighting pitch, and although only a few minutes of the game had passed, the fight and spirit of the team had been communicated to the bench

THREE POINTS WERE GOING to be enough, perhaps, to win this ball game . . . If the field goal had proved successful (and it was a very easy shot), that disastrous forward pass heaved a few minutes later by Mazur into Juzwick's arms would not have been attempted . . . Deep in enemy territory, with two downs to go, Army would have rushed once at least and then kicked, if necessary. The breaks of course might have changed the game, but the odds are ever that the furious Kaydets would have protected their important three points had they won them

VAUDEVILLE, IT IS OUR MOURNFUL DUTY to report, is not coming back . . . These "available of stars" units which Hollywood is sending out are being booked in movie theaters throughout the East are no part of a trend in the direction of presenting important stars to audiences which can see them in the flesh—and haunt stage-doors for autographs . . . (And that autograph business is important.)

FORMATION OF UNITS HEADED by newspaper columnists and other personalities such as Elsa Maxwell, is good business for the studios . . . Young contract players are given seasoning and are able to pay for their keep when not scheduled for pictures . . . The Elsa Maxwell unit includes lovely Mary Healy, who has something to offer in the way of a voice and talent; Mary Beth Hughes who is beautiful; Peter Lind Hayes, a devastating mimic whose absence from Hollywood for even a brief period is welcomed by some of the celebrities he satirizes, Marjorie Weaver and Kay Aldrich

THE BOOKING DEPARTMENT of the Keith chain in New York was in communication with Detroit, where Miss Maxwell and her "starlets" were playing, and the Boston may play the unit in December which will be all right with Manager Harry McDonald . . . And about the bearing of the eternal autograph hunt on the attitude of the big stars toward playing "in person," as they used to . . . Most of them dread personal appearances like the plague

BING CROSBY—for one—is in such mortal dread of the ravenous pad-and-pencil fanatics that he seldom ventures off the beaten path of home to studio, home to golf-course or race-course, and home again . . . Of course, when he comes to Boston for golf—or to buy the Bees—such trips are the exception . . . Incidentally, more than one magnate is dissatisfied with the abrupt refusal of Judge Landis to permit Mr. Crosby to become a ballclub owner.

BOSTON ENGAGEMENT FOR MARY HEALY
Now Touring With Elsa Maxwell's "Starlets"

THE LANDIS REVOLT may break out in earnest this winter (contract or no contract) and Jim Farley may get into baseball without having to buy the Yankees . . . And stories purporting to report that there's sunshine and light between Will Hays and the movie moguls are not completely trustworthy . . . The Hays office has become much more liberal in passing questionable situations and dialogue . . . But his number is up as "movie czar."

TONE, JOAN BENNETT IN COMEDY

By Louella O. Parsons

Franchot Tone

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 4 Franchot Tone and Joan Bennett, who have never made a picture together, will get a chance to match sophisticated wits in "A Girl's Best Friend Is Wall Street." To me this Columbia picture based on the Cosmopolitan magazine story by Jane Allen, has the catchiest title of the year. Of course, it's a romantic comedy—all about a smart young woman who wins a fortune and an eligible bachelor on the toppest money street in the world

Joan called me long distance to tell me her reasons for turning down "Topper Returns" for Hal Roach. Their feud over the advertising on "Housekeeper's Daughter" had nothing to do with it. The story just wasn't what she had been led to believe it was in New York. We haven't read the script so it isn't fair to say that it wasn't good. These things are always a matter of opinion. But in the meantime the youngest Bennett will be busy with the Wall Street comedy which stars Will Rogers' old pal Wallace Ford, making its second Hollywood feature in the new Loretta Young picture.

SPEAKING OF HERMANS Hermes Nae Gal . . . Hasn't decided the picture in which Gloria Swanson will make her screen comeback. Stage and film actress has been favorite vogue Hollywood hostess. Lately Hermes has been a real "the things we do for love" girl. Before Gloria decided to play only herself on the screen she lately escorted shapely ex-film queen to the theater in "Foreign Correspondent." Hermes writes some of his own wisecracks into "Nice Girl?"

I HAVEN'T HEARD any news in months that interested me as much as the story that Gloria Swanson, who has been out of movies and the entertainment world for some years, has signed a contract to appear before the footlights in "The Last Judgment" written by Fodor Chodorov and directed by Otto Preminger. It will be produced by Meyers and Aldrich and since it is an the order of "Dinner At Eight" Gloria Swanson will be surrounded by an allstar cast

Act now by familiarizing yourself with this game, and by mailing the coupon below for all previous question-cartoons . . . which are still available FREE!

CHECK THE ANSWERS

Loot at Check Sheet No. 19 at the right. You'll enjoy the humorous cartoons, and you'll be intrigued by the interesting questions they set forth.

Read each question carefully. Then look through the suggested answers under the question, and simply place a check mark (✓) in the circle following the answer you consider correct. (This Check Sheet, like the other daily Check Sheets to appear during the course of the contest, contains three question-cartoons, and has four suggested answers printed under each question.)

HOW TO SUBMIT ANSWERS

The daily Check Sheets are to be submitted in series of six—that is, the six Check Sheets that appear from Monday through Saturday of each week. In other words, when you get the first 18 Check Sheets in response to mailing the coupon below, you can catch up with the contest by checking the right answers and submitting those 18 Check Sheets as your first three series (Nos. 1-6, 7-12, 13-18).

In order to qualify your answers for that big $10,000.00 First Prize or any of the other awards to be made, the rules require a remittance of 10 cents in coin with each series of six Check Sheets.

Question 19B, which appears in today's Check Sheet, was suggested by Mrs. Eva Learnan, 495 Revere Street, Revere, Mass., who receives a check for $25.00.

THE RULES

1—The Boston Record-American GAME OF CHECK is open to all persons living in the New England States. However, no employes of the Boston Record, the Boston American or Sunday Advertiser, members of their families, nor any newspaper dealers and carriers who deliver the Boston Record, the Boston American or Sunday Advertiser, nor any person acting as a proxy for another, nor any person who has won $500 or more in any contest, may win a prize.

2—Beginning Monday, October 14, 1940, a check sheet will be published each weekday in the Boston American and the Boston Record. Each check sheet will contain three cartoon questions. Four and only four suggested answers will be printed under each cartoon question used in the daily check sheets. One and only one of these suggested answers is the correct answer to the question appearing above. The six check sheets published during each week will constitute a series. There will be fifteen series. Answers to each week's series of cartoons should be brought or mailed to the Contest Editor, P. O. Box 2337, c/o the Boston Record-American Game of Check. Answers for each week's series should be submitted within the week after that series appears in the Boston Record and the Boston American.

3—One hundred prizes will be awarded by the Boston Record-American in accordance with the published schedule of prizes, to those 100 contestants who, by their answers achieve the 100 highest scores. A check sheet will not be judged as a unit—each and every question will be judged separately. Thus, a contestant will get credit for each question correctly answered. No contestant may win more than one prize. Neatness does not count. Do not decorate your answers.

4—In case two or more contestants are tied for a certain prize, just what particular prize each contestant may be entitled to will be determined by submitting to each tied contestant a set of tie-breaking questions, and if necessary, a second, third, or fourth set of tie-breaking questions. Prizes will be awarded on the basis of the highest scores achieved by contestants, in accordance with the instructions and scoring regulations governing the solution of such tie-breaking questions. At the discretion of the Boston Record and the Boston American, tied contestants may be required to work the tie-breaking questions without assistance, in the offices of the Boston Record or the Boston American. In case of final ties, duplicate prizes will be awarded.

5—In order to qualify for a prize, contestants are required to accompany each weekly series of Check Sheets with a remittance of 10c in coin. An individual file will be set up for each qualified contestant and each weekly set of answers duly filed therein. After the contest closes, each individual file will be duly judged.

To those contestants who complete the 15 weekly series of check sheets and who in all other ways conform to the rules of the contest, the Boston Record-American will present a special quiz booklet created by Harold Hart, author of the famous quiz volume, "Invitation to Fun."

6—Any person, by entering this contest understands that it is a contest of individual effort, and agrees to abide by and accept as final the decision of the Boston Record-American on all matters affecting this contest, including among others the qualification of contestants, their disqualification at any time before or after January 27th, the closing date, for any cause deemed necessary, the application of the rules, the establishment of time limitations, the judging of answers, the scoring of answers, and the interpretation of such instructions governing individual questions as may be announced by the officials of the contest. By entering this contest, participants agree that their answers become the property of the Boston Record-American and will not be returned.

7—Entries that are not signed by name will not be considered eligible for prizes nor will any claims to the ownership of such entries be recognized. Entries which are illegible will not be considered. Not more than one prize will be awarded to members of any one immediate family. The Boston Record-American will not be responsible for entries or communications lost or unduly delayed either from the contestant to the Boston Record-American Contest Editor or from the Boston Record-American to the contestant.

"I BANE tempted gude," John Wayne might be saying to the provocative Carmen Morales. Wayne portrays Ole Olesen, the young Swedish sailor in "The Long Voyage Home," now showing on Keith-Memorial screen.

Three Beauty Queens at Casino

Not one but three burlesque queens ledd=n the cast of the Ca=sino's new revue.

They are Dixie Kins, a Latin from Manhattan; Lia Sorrell, a Parisian preferred blonde, and Carol=, who doesn't permit her classical name to conceal her lovely fe=tures.

The three represent as pro=vocative a blend of burlesque charms as the current offers.

Lia Sorrell

But beauty isn't the only lure offered this week by the Hanover st. burlesque house, where Joe Freed, marshal of the laugh parade, hilariously goes into his sixth week. Freed's comedy has record would seem to indicate, is of the indispensable variety. Aiding him in his shenanigans are Fobby Fay, Freddie Walker and Elinor Walent.

The 16 Abdallah Girls are other Casino favorites. Their acrobatics and dancing have made such a hit with the Scollay Square patrons that they are being held over a second week. Other attractions on the bill are the Three White Whirlwinds, skating act, and four vaudeville acts.

On the screen are "The Bat Whispers," with Chester Morris and Una Merkel and "Children of the Wild," with Joan Valerie and James Bush.

Dante Coming To Shubert

Dante's inferno of prestidigitatorial feats, otherwise known as 'Sim Sala Sim," will tarry for two weeks, beginning next Monday evening, at the Shubert Theater on the first stop in a trans-continental tour.

"Sim Sala Bim," (widely advertised as meaning "thanks to you" in Danish but, according to Time, "actually a phrase from a Danish folk song roughly translatable as Ta-ra-ra-boom-de-ay") comes to Boston direct from a record-breaking Broadway engagement. It was Broadway's first full size illusionist's performance in 13 years and includes 50 spectacular illusions requiring the most elaborate of props.

Born in Copenhagen 57 years ago, the great Dante came to this country at the age of six. He was then little Harry Jansen. He started out as a magician in St. Paul, Minn., after watching the Great Hermann do his stuff at the opera house there. Later, besides operating a show of his own, Jansen at one time ran a magic shop in Chicago. Subsequently, Thurston and Jansen formed a corporation named Dante the Magician, Inc. Three years later Thurston made Dante a present of the name.

'CHRISTMAS IN JULY' AT PARA-FENWAY COMING SOON

Truex Back to His First Studio

Paramount welcomed its first leading man back to the studio during the making of "Christmas in July," which comes to the Paramount and Fenway screens soon.

The man is Ernest Truex who plays a leading comedy role in this Preston Sturges picture, co-starring Dick Powell and Ellen Drew, and recently seen here in person in the Kaufman-Hart comedy, "George Washington Slept Here."

More than a quarter-century ago—27 years ago, to be precise—Truex went before the cameras of the same company, then known as Famous Players, as leading man to Mary Pickford in "The Good Little Devil," filmed at the company's early-day studio on 26th st., between 8th and 9th avenues in New York City.

Famous Players' founder and head at the time was Adolph Zukor, now still a top executive of the company as its chairman of the board. The picture in which Truex came to the screen opposite Miss Pickford was the first picture Zukor produced, according to Truex, although the firm had previously released the first feature film shown in America, the foreign-made "Queen Elizabeth," starring Sarah Bernhardt.

For many years, Truex alternated between screen and stage employment, and for a time had a picture producing company of his own.

Others appearing in the cast of "Christmas in July," described as a laugh-riot detailing the struggles of two youngsters to win a $25,000 coffee slogan contest, are Raymond Walburn, William Demarest, Alexander Carr and Franklin Pangborn.

The second feature, "Cherokee Strip," featured Richard Dix and Victor Jory in a story concerning the long-standing feud of two clans of Texas cattle ranchers.

"YOWEE! We hit the jackpot! 25,000 berries, and nothing to do but spend it!" That's the gist of "Christmas in July," the Dick Powell-Ellen Drew co-starrer due on the Paramount and Fenway screens on Thursday.

Football Night At the Fenway

Football night will be celebrated tonight at the Fenway Theater where the entire Boston University squad, including Coach Pat Hanley, will be guests of the management at the showing of "Knute Rockne-All American." The Championship Dedham High team, and band, will also attend.

Mask and Wig Play Here on Dec. 13

The Mask and Wig Club of the University of Pennsylvania, in observance of the university's bicentennial, has built its 53d annual production, "High As a Kite," around the traditions of Benjamin Franklin. The show due at the Boston Opera House on Dec. 13, will open in Philadelphia.

Election Returns at Theaters

Late election returns will be given tomorrow night at all M. P. downtown theaters including the Metropolitan, Paramount, Fenway, Scollay, Modern and Washington Street Olympia.

Complete election returns will be announced also from Loew's State and Orpheum stages during the screening of Charlie Chaplin in "The Great Dictator" tomorrow evening.

ETHEL WILSON (top) appearing in "Here Today," the George Oppenheimer comedy revival starring Ruth Gordon at the Copley Theater.

THERE'S no illusion about Moi-Yo Miller's (center) attractiveness. She will assist the Great Dante in his cutting-a-woman-in-half and other hoodwinking feats when he brings his magic show, "Sim Sala Bim," to the Shubert next Monday night.

MARGUERITE NAMARA'S prima donna talents—and they are four-star—have a workout in "Night of Love," Shubert musical tenanting the Shubert through Saturday night.

"BOSTON AFTER DARK," by George Holland, is a regular feature of the Boston Evening American.

Three Premieres On Tonight's Card

WILBUR—"LADIES IN RETIREMENT," the Broadway murder-mystery success of last season by Edward Percy and Reginald Denham starring Flora Robson, and with Estelle Winwood, Isobel Elsom and Patrick O'Moore in featured supporting roles. A Theater Guild-American Theater Society subscription offering. Matinees Thursday and Saturday. Two weeks only.

PLYMOUTH—"ELMER THE GREAT," a revival of King Lardner's famous baseball comedy starring Joe E. Brown. Included in cast of this Aldrich-Myers production are Eva Condon, John Coll, Peggy O'Donnell, Muriel Williams, Alexander Clark, Grace Carney, Edwin Gordon, Betty Kelley and Douglas Keaton. Matinees Thursday and Saturday.

BOSTON OPERA HOUSE—"Nutcracker" suite of Tzchaikowsky, a classic Russian ballet newly staged with streamlined costumes and sets by Alexandre Benois and the hit of the just concluded New York season; "Poker Game," another outstanding novelty of the season with an original musical score by Igor Stravinsky and "The Serenade," a ballet based on Tzchaikowsky's suite for strings, compose tonight's initial program by the Ballet Russe de Monte Carlo. Six-day engagement with Wednesday and Saturday matinees.

Shows Continuing

CIVIC REPERTORY — "LIFE WITH FATHER," the Broadway success adapted by Russel Crouse and Howard Lindsay from Clarence Day's sketches of the same title with Dorothy Gish and Louis Calhern heading the local company. Supporting cast includes Lee Favor, Richard Ney and Charles Hanson Towne. Produced by Oscar Serlin; directed by Bretaigne Windust; settings by Stewart Chaney. Matinees Wednesday and Saturday. Sixth week.

COPLEY — "HERE TODAY," a revival of the George Oppenheimer comedy starring Ruth Gordon. Heading supporting company are Ethel Wilson, Alan Hewitt and King Calder. Matinees Wednesday and Saturday. Final week.

SHUBERT—"NIGHT OF LOVE," a musical comedy version of the Lili Hatvany play, "Tonight or Never." Matinees Wednesday and Saturday. Final week.

Smart Set Functions

By BETTY ALDEN

MEMOIRS OF A GAY WEEK-END . . . The clock at The Country Club was chiming 5 a. m. Saturday morning when the cork popped on the last bottle of the 30 odd cases of champagne used to toast debutante Cynthia Reece at her coming out party . . .

The dance was one of those pleasant Boston affairs at which friends of the whole family, debs, Harvardians, young marrieds and their parents, all joined in toasting the pretty guest of honor . . . Among the smartly gowned ladies was young Mrs. Charlie Devens who carried a novel gold kidskin purse with her filmy ivory tulle gown which had bands of gold lame appliqued on the shirt and brief bolero jacket . . . Mrs. Charlie Cunningham's gown had a full black velvet skirt and a pink satin top appliqued with velvet scrolls . . .

Mrs. Charles Kinkade wore sapphire lace accented by a flame handky, diamond clips, and a matching sapphire bow in her pompadour . . . Tall blonde Mrs. John S. Ames, Jr., was cosily wrapped in a long mink coat over her lovely gown of flame velvet with which she wore a pearl necklace and tiny diamond clips in her ears . . .

Mr. and Mrs. Ames, the Cunninghams and Mr. and Mrs. Devens all dined together at the Balinese Room beforehand to celebrate the opening of Lois Elliman's return engagement . . . Lois, a Gotham post deb, is one of the few society girls who has made a success as a night club singer . . . In the Cunningham party also were the newly married Mr. and Mrs. John Grandin, Jr., (she's tall and blonde and wore apple green with sable fur edging the neckline) Mr. and Mrs. John Hall, Jr., and Alan Eno, who is prominent in the Bar Harbor summer colony . . .

Ferried Up Charles to Game

DISTINGUISHED out-of-town Harvard-Princeton fans included Mr. and Mrs. Oakleigh Lewis Thorne of Mt. Kisco . . . She's the former Bertha Palmer, daughter of the fabulously wealthy Potter Palmers of Chicago . . . Like her sister, Pauline, who had elaborate debut parties in Boston, Bar Harbor and Chicago a few years ago, Bertha suffers from near sightedness and has to resort to glasses when she really wants to seen who's who . . . This she did Saturday evening at an after-the-game party in the Balinese Room where she saw some of Boston's best . . . She danced in a black faille dinner gown with diamonds sparking at her throat and wrists . . .

Luncheon glests of Mr. and Mrs. Harold G. Kern ferried up the river to the game aboard a big excursion boat which lowered the gang plank right behind the Kerns' home on the river side of Beacon street . . . They had an orchestra on board and all during the sail practiced Harvard and Princeton cheers and songs . . . After the game their partying continued with a dinner dance in the River Room at the Fox and Hounds . . . which was appropriately decorated with a football motif . . .

Mr. and Mrs. Wallace L. Pierce say the week-end was as gay as any Harvard-Yale week-end . . . They had a houseful of guests and a whirl of cocktail parties, luncheons and teas on their schedule . . .

Donald Borns to Entertain

MR. AND MRS. DONALD BORN of Cambridge will be hosts at one of the largest dinner parties preceding the Cambridge League of Women Voters' annual dance at the Hotel Continental next Friday evening . . .

Mrs. Born, a past president of the League, comes by her interest in good government through her husband who is a professor of history at B. U. . . . Among their dinner guests Friday evening will be Mr. and Mrs. Richard D. Fay, Mr. and Mrs. Warren MacPherson, Mr. and Mrs. David W. Bailey, Mr. and Mrs. F. Stanton Cawley, Mr. and Mrs. A. Lawrence Hopkins, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Reed Powell, Mr. and Mrs. James M. Landis, Mr. and Mrs. Allan J. Morse and Mr. and Mrs. Merle Fainsod . . .

Also dining with the Borns before going on to dance into the wee small hours to the strains of Jack Marshard's music will be Mr. and Mrs. Henry R. Brigham, Mrs. Mary Heard, Mrs. Elizabeth Farnum, Mr. Harvey Hull, Mr. Frederick Whipple, Mr. Edmund Dewey, Mr. and Mrs William H. Davies, Miss Rosamond Coolidge and Mrs. Oliver Ricketson, Jr.

AN OUTSTANDING November bride will be vivacious and popular Nancy Peabody, whose marriage to John Philip Lee will take place Nov. 16 in Christ Church, Cambridge. She's a member of the Junior League and Vincent Club and daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Codman Peabody of Cambridge.

Pageant Group Guests at Tea

Mrs. David Rives Sigourney, of Nahant, chairman of the decoration committee for the International Pageant and Ball, was hostess recently at a tea at the International Insitute for members of her committee. Plans were discussed for transforming the Statler Ballroom into a setting of old world picturesqueness for the ball which takes place next Friday evening.

Guests at the tea included Mrs. and Mrs. Sargent Collier, Elizabeth Blaney, Mrs. K. Albert Paretchan, Henry Cunningham, Henry Davenport, Mrs. Samuel Hall, Jr., Thea Holt, Helene Kiulewicz, Olive Perry, Lewis Perry, Edward Orlandini, Mrs. William Brace Pratt, Mrs. Philip Sherwood and many others.

PREMIERE TO ATTRACT MANY SOCIALITES

Mr. and Mrs. Edward J. Holmes, Mrs. Max L. Talbot and Mr. and Mrs. Walter I. Badger, Jr., will be among the many first nighters at the Theater Guild and American Theater Society's second subscription play which opens at the Colonial Theater this evening.

Flora Robson will star in "Ladies in Retirement," a mystery drama which will give Boston its first real shivers of the season.

Other first nighters will be Col. and Mrs. Walter M. Pratt, Miss Rebekah Hobbs, Mrs. Frederick T. Whitney, Mrs. Edgar Pierce, Mrs. Frank J. Fahey, Miss Louise Condit, Miss Lavinia Sabine, Dr. and Mrs. Charles Vallendar, Jr.

Otis-Rutter Ceremony

The marriage of Miriam Rutter of Webster Groves, Mo., to Edwin Thomas Otis, Jr., of Cohasset, is announced by the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Josiah B. Rutter. The ceremony was performed on Oct. 29 in the picturesque Congregational Church, Harwich Center, Mass.

The bride was attended by the groom's sister, Dorothea Otis, as maid of honor, and the Misses Elizabeth Wells of Charlotte, N. C.; Caroline Lane of Leicester, Mass.; and Anne Shope of New York, as bridesmaids.

Nathaniel Rutter was best man and the ushers were Richard Towle of Cohasset, Curtis Power of Norwell, Charles and Robert Rutter of Waltham, cousins of the bride.

Mr. Otis, a graduate of Lawrence Academy, Groton, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Thomas Otis of Cohasset.

The bride attended Smith College and Washington College in St. Louis. Following a wedding trip the couple will reside in Springfield, Vt., where the bridegroom is in business.

Love And Marriage Puts Children Before Self

DEAR MISS FAIRFAX:

At 30 years of age I've been married thirteen years, and have three lovely children—9, 7 and 2. But I'm terribly unhappy because of a difficult husband. He doesn't want me to go anywhere, not even to visit my own sister and brothers. His own family are on my side, and urge me to get a divorce. They have seen him slap me for no reason at all except his evil temper, and they know I've never done anything wrong.

I don't like to sue for divorce, because, after all, I love him and want to make a home for my children.

ROSE.

If you still love a man who beats you, and whose own family urge you to leave him, I'm afraid very little can be done about his bad treatment of you. I suggest you go to the Domestic Relations Court in your city and have him bound over to keep the peace.

It really has a very bad effect on young children, to grow up in a household where the father beats his wife. However, if you don't mind the beating on your own account, I hope you will take steps to put a stop to it for the sake of your children.

For Relief of HEAD COLD MISERY

Birthday Horoscope

By FRANCES DRAKE

Monday, Nov. 4

IF TODAY IS YOUR BIRTHDAY—You are the possessor of the unusual combination of strength and subtlety. You have great inward force and initiative, creative ability, keen mental powers. Aggressiveness and a tendency to egoism must be intelligently controlled. Be able to take orders as well as give them. This also holds true for criticism. Tolerance and patience are your greatest needs. Be circumspect, accurate and thoughtful.

LUCKY NUMBER—Today's lucky number is 68.

LUCKY COLOR—Today's lucky color is orchid.

Cooking

Sour Milk Recipes

By MARTHA LEE

When whistling autumn winds redden cheeks and liven appetites, cooks head straight for the kitchen, thinking of hot caramel puddings, cream topped gingerbreads, spicy cookies, and all the other fragrant traditional foods of November. Cooks may observe "open" season for any foods they enjoy, but tradition makes November the month for cranberries, chocolate, and dried fruits. Combine these with wheat flour and sour milk to make families beam with approval.

Sour milk has been a culinary standby from early times, and nowadays we let milk sour not for lack of refrigeration but for its virtues as a tenderizer and bleacher. From the plenty of colorful autumn foods we have chosen three recipes that use sour milk as an ingredient.

CRANBERRY MUFFINS

1 cup (¼ lb.) raw chopped cranberries
¾ cup sugar
2 cups sifted flour
¾ tsp. salt
½ tsp. soda
1 egg
¾ cup sour milk or buttermilk
¼ cup melted shortening

Combine cranberries and sugar. Sift flour, salt and soda together. Add cranberries. Combine beaten egg, sour milk, and melted shortening and add to flour mixture, stirring only enough to moisten flour. Fill greased muffin pans 2-3 full. Bake in moderately hot oven (425 deg. F.) 20 to 25 minutes. Makes 22 two-inch muffins.

Flecked with the scarlet of chopped, raw cranberries, cranberry muffins are cake-like and tender because of the sour milk they contain. Bake them in small muffin pans for tea or party luncheons, in larger pans for lusty family eating. Sugar strewn over the fresh-chopped berries at the start absorbs the flavorful cranberry juice and intensifies their color.

Mahogany loaf cake calls only for staple ingredients, and is a good cake to keep in mind when a small one is desired. Serve hot with whipped cream or fudge sauce, or cool and bring to the table with apricot and prune compote.

MAHOGANY LOAF CAKE

2 squares bitter chocolate
¾ cup butter
¾ cup hot water
1 cup sugar
1 cup sifted flour
¾ tsp. soda
1 tsp. baking powder
¾ cup sour milk or buttermilk
½ tsp. vanilla extract
1 egg

Cook chocolate, butter and hot water together until slightly thickened, stirring to prevent scorching. Cool. Sift sugar, flour, soda and baking powder together. Add sour milk and vanilla to cooled chocolate mixture, and add to flour mixture. Add beaten egg, mixing thoroughly. Bake in greased loaf pan in moderate oven (325 deg. F.) 45 minutes. Makes 1 loaf cake.

Parsley biscuits rolled thin and used sandwich-fashion, and served with Creole tomato pepper sauce, transform low-cost hamburger into as gallant a dish as roast or chop. Serve with tender fall vegetables and be prepared for second helpings.

PARSLEY BISCUIT HAMBURGERS WITH TOMATO PEPPER SAUCE

2 cups sifted flour
½ tsp. soda
¼ tsp. salt
2 tbsp. minced parsley
2 to 4 tbsp. shortening
½ to 1 cup sour milk or buttermilk
½ lb. hamburger
Salt and pepper

Sift flour, soda, and salt together. Add parsley. Cut in shortening into flour. Add sour milk to make a soft dough. Knead lightly on floured board. Roll out ¼ inch thick. Cut 12 rounds with 3-inch biscuit cutter, 12 rounds with 3-inch doughnut cutter. Form meat into patties, season and brown in skillet. Place patties on biscuit rounds and cover with doughnut rounds. Bake on cookie sheet in moderately hot oven (425 deg. F.) 25 min. Serve with Tomato Pepper Sauce. Makes 12 3-inch biscuit sandwiches.

TOMATO PEPPER SAUCE

1 tbsp. butter
1 tbsp. flour
2 tbsp. chopped parsley
Salt and pepper
½ cup chopped green pepper
1½ cups tomato soup or canned tomato

Add butter to drippings in skillet in which hamburgers were browned. Add flour, salt, pepper, parsley and green pepper. Stir until smooth and continue cooking until pepper is tender. Add tomato soup and cook 5 to 10 minutes or until flavors are blended. Serve over parsley biscuit hamburgers.

Courtesy Tip

Don't repeat a favorite phrase of yours until it becomes annoying or tiresome to a listener . . . for example, "If you know what I mean," or "See," after each sentence—Mrs. Beeckman

Smart Set Fashions

Color Kindles Black

THROW color around your shoulders . . . it's not only a clever way of flattering your complexion, but does fool-the-eye tricks in slenderizing contours from the shoulders down. This is a chic find in a group of women's better dresses. And if you have a yen for dramatic colors, but don't always dare to wear them, here's how you can. The frock is a fine-textured crepe of Eastman acetate rayon and viscose rayon. The shoulders are extended with bright blue or lipstick red on black, or beige on brown. Scroll embroidery trimming is smart and new. We'll be glad to give you shopping details on this frock; write or phone our Fashion and Beauty Department—ANNICE BRINK.

Beauty

'All-Weather Lotion'

By ARLINE GOULD

THEY SAY that an ounce of prevention is worth a pound of cure . . . which applies to skin-chapping as well as anything else . . . so, thoughtfully, during the pre-chapping season the makers of a swell new "all-weather lotion" offer a whole dollar bottle free with any $1 purchase in their line! One week only!

There are super-features about this all-weather lotion that you should consider . . . like the fact that though it's rich and protective, it's non-sticky. For the aesthetic side of you, the lotion has a delicate pink and is fragrant as the lilac bush you remember from beside your grandmother's front door.

Because it is so highly emollient in a greaseless way, we suggest you adopt a bath routine with it, if you've never done it before, that will see you through a harsh winter in the pink of satiny condition. Use it on legs, arms and neck after a bath and always rub in an extra bit on your heels. It's amazing how this constant "softening up" will soon minimize and smooth those pump bumps.

Now about that "dollar's worth" that entitles you to a free bottle of this lotion . . . if we were you we'd go the whole way on keeping lips and complexion smooth as silk by acquiring the unique new lipstick and cheek rouge featured in this same house. Yup, only one of their kind, they tell us . . . but have certain special ingredients which will keep lips soft and unchapped, and same for the cheeks.

If you'd like to learn all about this gift of a $1 "all weather lotion" given with a $1 purchase . . . phone Arline Gould, Liberty 4000, week-days except Saturdays, or write, care of the Boston American, inclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Sing Old Western Favorites

EVERYONE LOVES A SENTIMENTAL BALLAD

Many are the happy hours you can spend singing cowboy songs! These real old Western favorites just fit the fall autumn evenings when the crowd drops in or you've a special beau to entertain.

Everyone loves the sentimental "Sad River Valley," a Western roundelay plea to her dear by the cowboy sweetheart.

"Come and sit by my side if you love me
Do not hasten to bid me adieu
But remember the Red River Valley
And the girl that has loved you so true."

LISTEN, WORLD!

By Elsie Robinson

JUST UP from the clearing where I've been laying out a new strawberry bed.

What a sunset! Wish you could have seen it boiling up, over the range, in a clear, coral flame, with the fields fading into violet dust beneath it, and the bared branches etched against it in black lace.

All day long a storm has been in the making. Now, in the twilight hush, you can feel the nearing rain—sharp with the smell of leaf mold, fallen pears and apples, pine needles "Mountain Mistry" and wild mushrooms. Does something to you, the sight and smell and feel of things like that. Makes all the horror, hatred and hysteria of these days seem like a bad dream.

BUT getting back to those berries—happen to know anything about raising them? I'm no expert myself but I've fooled around with garden truck most of my life and thought I knew most of the tricks. But they sprung a new one lately that's a honey. At least it's new to me.

You've seen how strawberries are planted—"hilled up" in long, high rows so the water can flow between them, and the countless runners can have room to branch out from the old plants, rooting as they go. Then, come spring, you and the bird race for first serving!

Sounds simple enough but strawberry raising can be plenty complicated. The plants start easily enough but they lose their bearing enthusiasm mighty soon. Time was when beds were moved every two or three years, for nobody counted on getting more than a few crops from the same plant or plot. But, as I said, they've gotten around that now.

Come January—here in California—the farmers go between the rows with a gadget something like a cultivator, except it has blades which skim beneath the surface and cut the old roots. Not entirely off—they leave enough for new growth and grip.

You'd think it would ruin the plants, wouldn't you? Instead it gives them a new lease on life. Where, before, they stopped bearing after a couple of seasons, now they stay as lively as their own runners, come across with bigger and better crops, year after year.

Theory is—a strawberry plant grows old bottomside first. Uses up its vitality sending out roots and "getting sot." Pretty soon it's all roots and leaves and no berries. Now the new scheme puts it back into circulation by pruning those roots, breaking up that old, stubborn grip.

IT'S A SHAME that it can't be done to us humans when we begin getting "sot" and unproductive. For we, too, take root. Not actual roots of course, but their equivalent which can wreck us just as surely. Bonds of prejudice and sentimentality, cowardice and conceit. Eccentric notions . . . pampered habits . . . foolish feuds. Nothing much to them at first—we can break them anytime we want, we tell ourselves.

But we DON'T break them. They multiply, grow stronger, tougher. Presently we're held as if by cables. Our productive days are over. We may still think we're live numbers but we're not fooling anyone.

What Has Happened:

SIR JOHN SANDERSON, British intelligence chief, has just learned that MARA, his ace woman agent, has betrayed important secrets to the elusive AJAX, head of the Nazi spies in England.

Sir John's aide, CAPT. HUGH KENLEY, also reported that a parachutist has landed near London and vanished in an unknown girl's car. Sir John realized that Mara's treason makes his official position desperate. He must resign or . . .

As he gripped his pistol, a familiar voice outside his residential office interrupted. He slipped the weapon back into a drawer when greeting his ward, beautiful BRINDA DUNCAN, who pleads with him for war service as a spy.

Sir John is strongly opposed to this, but evades the issue. Suddenly two shots are heard from the street, and Orderly Hunt announces that Capt. Kenley has been murdered.

Now Continue:

FOR A MOMENT, the startling announcement seemed to deprive Sir John of all power of motion.

"Kenley shot?" he repeated, staring at his orderly. "Impossible!"

"Yes, sir." The orderly's face was flushed, but his voice steady. "Only a moment ago, sir. Almost at our door."

Sir John leaped to his feet.

"Keep your post, Hunt! Come with me, Brinda." He strode through the door and down the hall, Brinda hastening to keep pace. Outside a constable's whistle blew shrilly.

"Ring Dr. MacDonald," Sir John told Brinda, at the head of the stairs. "He should be in his office . . . tell him to come at once."

"But—" protested the girl. "You know, Sandy, I've completed my first aid course. Why, only last night—"

"Hurry! Ring MacDonald!" Sir John's tone was the same he had used to his orderly. Long ago, as quite a little girl, Brinda had learned that, when her guardian employed that tone, he expected nothing less than military obedience.

She argued no more. Face set, she turned reluctantly toward the housekeeping phone in the rear hall, her attention still strained backward, her ears were alert for every sound; her eyes, deep and mysterious, peered intently to left and right, as if she hoped, by sheer power of will to discern all that was taking place within and without the thick walls of the ancient mansion.

Halfway down the stairs, as he had anticipated, Sir John was met by Donovan, the seamy-faced agent whose assignment it was to guard the Intelligence Chief's home during blackout hours.

"The captain's in the front room, Colonel," he said breathing heavily.

Principal Characters in "Mata Hari's Daughter"

SIR JOHN SANDERSON, chief of the British Intelligence Service.

MARA, Sir John's ace woman agent who betrays important secrets.

AJAX, head of the Nazi spies in England and man of mystery.

BRENDA DUNCAN, Sir John's ward, who wants to serve Britain as spy.

"We just carried him in. I'm afraid he's done for."

"Who shot him?'

"That I don't know, sir. He was a big fellow with a limp. As he was getting out of Miss Brinda's car, which was parked about 100 paces up the square, the captain, hurrying along, recognized the car and then stopped to talk to the fellow. The next minute there were two shots. The murderer grabbed this gentleman's car and vanished in it." He pointed to a tall, whitehaired, distinguished looking man.

"You had no chance to shoot?"

"The man was gone to fast sir."

"Return to your post," said Sir John. "I'll talk to you later."

He turned to the tall man.

"Good evening, Lord Mountwyn. I'm sorry to hear your car's been stolen."

Lord Mountwyn amiably shook hands.

"This is an unexpected meeting Sir John. I didn't think I'd see you before tomorrow night. You are dining with us, I hear."

Sir John, embarrassed that a high admiralty official should be drawn into the momentous drama, said: "I believe so—or, at least, I'll be in during the evening . . . Don't worry about your car. One of my men, you know, has been injured. Will you excuse me?"

He hastened into the room at the foot of the stairs. There was a trail of blood leading across the threshhold. Sir John carefully avoided it. Kenley lay a little inside the door. A policeman was bending over him.

DEATH NEARS

One look at his aide was enough for Sir John. The veteran Intelligence Chief had seen hundreds of mortally wounded men and knew the look of death.

Blood was welling slowly from a dark hole beneath the decoration on the young captain's chest. A thin stream had trickled from the corner of his mouth. He was breathing in slow, shuddering gasps, and each breath seemed dismally slower and more labored than the last.

Sanderson bent down. "Kenley! —This is Sanderson." His voice was strong and authoritative. "Can you tell me what happened?

The breath of the dying man gobbled neider, there was a faint gurgle in his throat.

"Help me turn him," Sir John said to the constable. "He's strangling." Together they settled the prostrate body. The head lowered more freely but the gurgling and shuddering moans ceased.

"Ambulance called of course?" Sir John's question was also to the constable; all his attention was riveted on the gasping figure between them.

"Yes, sir." The constable was young and his voice was shaky. "My mate and I were on the corner when we heard the shots."

"Your mate a good driver?"

"The best. But what with the fog and the blackout, it's a hundred to one shot he'll not catch the murderer."

There was a deep groan from Kenley.

"He's trying to say something, I think," said the policeman. Sanderson knelt beside the convulsed figure of his aide.

"If only MacDonald would come!" Sir John prayed. As if in answer there was a heavy tread of feet in the hall then Donovan's voice announcing

"Doctor MacDonald, sir."

The newcomer was short, broad and heavy. An amazing pair of shaggy, penetrating blue eyes. A shapeless black hat was crumpled any way on a round high-domed head. Obviously he had come in a hurry.

He and Sanderson exchanged no greeting, simply a quick glance of two men who understood each other thoroughly.

Kenley, eh?" said the doctor in a surprisingly profound voice for so small a man. "Too bad, too bad. . . A little more light would help. That's good, officer. Flash it a wee bit more this way." He made a clucking sound of regret. "Ah well, ah well, there's naught to be done. Two good bullets through the lungs. The mon's as good as dead."

As he spoke his fingers were already skilfully stripping away the clothing and searching out the

"The Captain recognized the car and then stopped to talk to the fellow. The next minute there were two shots," said Donovan.

"Get us some gauze!" he growled impatiently. "He's bleeding like a pig in a slaughter-house . . . In my bag, there officer."

It was Sir John who ripped the doctor's bag open and handed him the gauze.

"A close-up job," said the grizzled doctor as he swabbed at the clotted blood. "See the powder burns on the skin? A good strong young man or he'd been dead long since. What rogue did him in?"

"I wish he could tell," said Sir John quietly. "Perhaps if he could talk . . ."

"WHO SHOT YOU?"

Again doctor and friend exchanged glances. "Weel," said MacDonald, "I doot it, but I'll e'en try." His stubby, hairy hand dived dexterously into the bag, emerged holding a hypodermic and a small vial. Swiftly loading the hypodermic to capacity, he pressed it be-

HOW TO GET A LOAN AT LOWER COST

Reduced rates cut payments on all loans over $100

You can get a personal loan of $20 to $300 at Household Finance at rates substantially below the lawful maximum—if you can repay in small monthly installments.

Payments to fit your purse

You may choose the most convenient repayment plan from the table below. Suppose that you need $100 and you can readily repay $9.75 a month. Your installments will repay a $100 loan in full in twelve months. Or, if you wish smaller payments, as little as $6.41 a month for twenty months will also repay a $100 loan

See the sample loans and payment plans in the table. (Loans also made in other amounts and for other periods.) Payments in the table repay everything. Household's rate of 2½% per month has long been below the lawful maximum. Now a new reduction has cut Household's rate to 2% per month on that part of your loan in excess of $100.

Simple to borrow

We require no salary or wage assignment, no stocks or bonds. (Loans are made on furniture, car or note.) No credit inquiries made of friends or relatives. And you don't have to ask friends or fellow-workers to sign the papers with you.

AUSTEN LAKE

Why Grid Officials Must Call 'Em

AUSTEN LAKE

ONE OF THE GAY, GOOFY MOMENTS of a sport author's day is that early morning period when he slits the gullets of incoming mail and studies contents which range from copper-plate penmanship and such salutatory remarks as "Anathema, My Dear Sir," to fragments of butcher's paper and penciled greeting, "Say, mug, where do you get off!"

Today for example:

"Sir—Why don't those pompous has-beens, in white bloomers, let the college teams play their own game instead of ruining it with a lot of silly goal-line penalties, like the one that robbed Princeton of a well-earned touchdown against Harvard Saturday? The 'backfield motion,' if there was any, certainly didn't affect the play in question, yet . . . J. S. F., Brookline."

Ans.—Let's make an analogy. Suppose one of the ball-toting team's blockers beats the snap of the ball by an eye flicker and thus gets in a quick check against the defending tackle. The ball carrier plunges three yards through the gap—three yards which he probably wouldn't have gained if the blocker had given the tackle equal opportunity. Now, if such a happening occurs at midfield, those three yards aren't very vital—there are still 47 yards to go. But if it happens close to the defenders' goal line, it means a touchdown. Hence, if an official is conscientious he should tootle his squawker quicker, if anything, near the goal lines where the payoff occurs, than upfield where there is plenty of yardage left.

The crowd and critics scream! The press prints imprecations! The penalized players roar! And everybody is unhappy! But the official knows, ruefully perhaps, that if he had not honked the play back, he would have been just as morally remiss as though he had cheated at cards.

"SIR—REMEMBERING YOU AS THE instigator of that Ted which you predicted? You'll find that Ted, like any other normal boy, Williams tirade last September—where now is the post-season blowoff has taken stock and will come to terms without fuss . . . Tom Yawkey doesn't seem to be outraged . . . Mrs. N. R. L., Dorchester."

Ans.—Exception taken! I did not instigate said "tirade." Williams did! As a reporter concerned with facts and an accurate presentation of information, Ted's threat of mutiny was newsworthy. Just as is a report, published in a recent West Coast Journal, to the effect that he is asking "twenty grand next season—or else." Personally I hope he gets it, if he would then level off to docile, workmanlike play and an utmost of effort.

Sometimes patience, as in Yawkey's case, becomes more of a vice than a virtue. For one of Tom's many interesting qualities is his tolerance toward many Red Sox failures. Most major league owners long ago would have offered one or more sacrificial goats on the altar of public exasperation. But as yet there is no smell of burning flesh around the Fenway Chambers. And after a fine, workmanlike job of finishing in a tie for fourth, Tom is taking some of his inept disciples to shoot wild-life on his Southern game preserve. Profit sheets and fiduciary clips have less interest to him than squatting under the lee of some duck-blind with several of his hired celebrities. The rest of the answer is that Tom, having a shipload of piastres, can afford failure. No avaricious loan sharks infest his financial waters; no reefs of insolvency stuff his course. Hence the only man who has suffered his displeasure in recent years is Billy Evans, ex-head of the Sox spy system.

"SIR—PITY ISN'T IT THAT B. C. isn't playing Pennsylvania next Saturday instead of Harvard? And that Harvard, instead of B. C., isn't meeting B. U. What have the so-called "Ivies" got against the Eagles? Here's one of the most powerful teams in the U. S., made up of boys from around Boston, and not imported from Minnesota and Pennsylvania. It's a home-bred team . . . LTD, Brighton."

Ans.—B. C.'s one important handicap in schedule making is the fact that it is a day-college. Why that should be regarded as a deterrent I don't know. Except that, when I recently enquired of an upper New York University director, he replied with the "day-college" dodge and added, "Why should we risk getting a solid kick in the prestige? We can list games with Cornell, Columbia, Princeton Army and teams in the big-16. If they lick us, no harm done. But if B. C. puts us through the ringer 40-0, it's a painful poke to our vanity."

"Sir—'A' bets that the college rules are basically different from the professional football rules. 'B' bets that they are practically the same . . . KCW, Boston."

Ans.—The two codes differ radically on many points, of which these are a few examples:

COLLEGE

1—A forward passer must stand five yards behind his scrimmage line at moment of throwing the ball.

2—Ball carrier not permitted to advance beyond spot where knee or any part of person except hands, touches ground.

3—Penalties may be inflicted up to one yard of the goal line and thereafter by halving distance.

4—On intended lateral passes which go forward, the ball shall revert to spot where previously put in play.

5—Posts ten yards behind goal line.

PROS

1—Forward passes permitted anywhere back of scrimmage line.

2—Ball carrier, not in grasp of opponent, may get up and continue to run.

3—Penalties inside 10-yard line must be no more than half the distance to the goal.

4—On intended laterals going forward penalty shall be five yards from spot of faulty pass.

5—Posts directly on goal line.

Obviously, the intent of the pros is to speed up play and encourage more scoring. The college board could, without damaging its game, copy some of the pro[illegible]ional items, chiefly the one governing "forward-laterals." A more [illegible]on, entertaining game would result.

LEAHY TO STAY AT B. C. 'LONG AS THEY WANT ME'

By FRANK FENWAY

From every neck and cranny, over hill and over dale, on bicycle and by dog sled, anguished alumni of Boston College pelted into toown today and from each poured the same heart-felt plea:

"Say it ain't so, Frankie."

And, it is a pleasure to chronicle, Frankie said it wasn't [illegible]—at least not yet.

For the sake of the record, the following is exactly what Coach Frank Leahy of the Boston College football team had to say when asked if there was any truth to the report that he was leaving the Heights to accept a more lucrative coaching offer:

"I didn't know anything about the story that has me leaving Boston College. I am looking forward to staying here. I am going to stay at Boston College until I have fulfilled my contract, and longer if they wish to extend it."

The collective sigh of relief from the B. C. alumni blew down the west end bleachers of Alumni Field.

And well it might, for the loss of Leahy to the Eagles would be just about the cruelest blow that could be struck New England football at this point.

LEAHY TEAM FOR B. C.

The present Boston College team is a great one, many believe it one of the greatest ever assembled, and it is a flesh and blood monument to the coaching genius of Frank Leahy, the smiling, modest Irishman from Notre Dame.

He took a capable, but discouraged, lot of young athletes who had been unable to win under the great Gil Dobie and in the short space of two years has fashioned them into national championship contenders.

Frank Leahy says he has no desire to leave Boston College. It is only natural that he wants to continue in a berth that has brought him national fame.

It is only natural that he should not want to turn over his talented operatives, skilled in his system, to another m n.

But is Boston College as anxious to have him remain as he is to stay here?

HAS TWO-YEAR CONTRACT

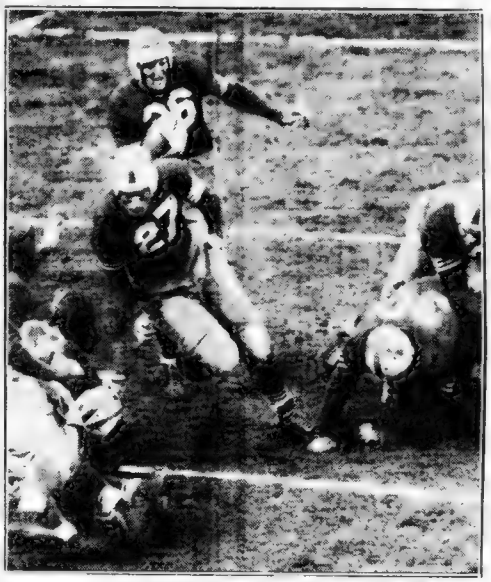
Leahy came to Boston College with a contract to coach football for two years. That two years is nearly up and his statement today leads to the belief that he has not as yet been signed to another.

It has been rumored that Boston College authorities aren't quite sold on the idea of big-time football despite the outstanding success of their present team.

There is supposed to be pressure being brought for a return to graduate coaching and a modified schedule.

Boston College heads could knock those rumors into the well-known cocked hat by signing Leahy to an immediate contract.

Please gentlemen.



STILL ROLLING ALONG—Banks McFadden of the Brooklyn Dodgers rolls ahead for a nice gain as his blockers open a huge hole in the Giants' line. Giants finally won, 10 to 7, in the pro grid classic. McFadden is the back who sparked Clemson to victory over Boston College in the Cotton Bowl.

Baugh, Redskins Usurp Packer Role

CHICAGO, Nov. 4 (AP)—The Green Bay Packers' famed passing attack is showing unmistakable signs of falling apart, but the Washington Redskins are ready to take up where the national champions left off.

The Packers, five times the champion in the past 11 years, blew plenty of scoring oportunities Sunday in bowing to the Chicago Bears, 14 to 7, while the undefeated Redskins were racking up their seventh straight triumph, 37 to 10.

The Redskins connected for 14 of 16 passes and rolled up 371 yards in whipping Pittsburgh, leaving them needing only two victories in four games to clinch the Eastern division title.

45,434 SEE BEARS

Sammy Baugh tossed two touchdown passes to Jimmy Johnston, Frank Filchock tossed one to Bob Masterson and scored a touchdown himself. Dick Todd added the fifth six-pointer and Masterson kicked a field goal.

Washington now has completed 93 of 148 passes in seven games for an average of 190 yards a game in the air. In addition, the Redskins have a strong running game which has accounted for more than a thousand yards over the same route.

The Bears, playing before 45,434, largest crowd ever to attend a pro game here, rushed over a touchdown on the Packers in the first period only to see Arnold Herber hit Don Tutson with an 11-yard touchdown toss which tied the score.

33,000 SEE GIANTS

Then the Bears' second team roared 45 yards to the second tally, Gary Famiglietti going over from the six.

The Packers had five good scoring chances in the last half, playing part of the third period and all of the fourth in Bear territory, but their passes failed them in a pinch. Cecil Isbell and Herber completed only 13 of 31 aerial efforts.

The Bears now need only two wins in their remaining four games to tie for the Western title even should the Packers finish their schedule undefeated.

New York Giants eked out a 10 to 7 victory over Brooklyn before 33,000, Ward Cuff's 25-yard field goal being the ultimate margin in a bitter struggle. The Giants produced a touchdown on a 12-yard pass and the Dodgers scored after a 70-yard drive, with Sam Francis plunging across.

Cleveland finally found its air attack and crushed Detroit under a 24 to 0 score, completing 10 of 13 passes for 131 yards.

MacKinney Gets Test At Penn

By JOE CASHMAN

A review of a scoreless tie usually is a review of nothing and is exactly that when it concerns last Saturday's Harvard-Princeton game.

The 36th meeting of these Big Three rivals in the mud and rain revealed not a thing about either which wasn't already known.

Harvard showed a strong defense, a weak attack and flaming courage. The same had been true of the Crimson against Amherst, Michigan, Army and Dartmouth.

Princeton had been helpless in four earlier games except when its Dave Allerdice was hitting dimes with long and short passes. It was helpless against the Harlow-lads all the way because Allerdice couldn't throw the wet, slippery ball.

The Tigers did come close to scoring a couple of times late in the game, but they deserved little credit for that.

Harvard's Fran Lee had the misfortune to fumble and lose the ball on his 20 early in the third period. That miscue and some nice kicking by Bob Peters set the stage for the Bengals two scoring threats, both of which fizzled badly.

Harvard had hoped to reach a season's offensive high in the game what with Loren MacKinney moving from end to the blocking back post.

WET FIELD HURT HARVARD

The first period, however, satisfied Coach Dick Harlow that his ground attack couldn't click on the slimy Stadium surface with an Evashevski or a Toczylowski doing the blocking, so MacKinney went back to end and George Heiden returned as blocking back.

Thus all that can be said today is

(1) Harvard must wait until it faces Penn in Philadelphia next Saturday to learn whether MacKinney is the answer to its offensive problems.

(2) Princeton, when it can't pass, couldn't beat Wofford.

For the second successive Saturday, little Fran Lee was the Crimson's most effective ball carrier.

MacKinney, considering his inexperience, did a nice blocking job while he was in the backfield and his superb punting proved that his sensational booting against Dartmouth the week before was no flash in the pan.

The Harvard frontier, as was expected, outplayed the Tiger line.

PETERS "BIG NOISE"

Bob Peters was practically the entire Tiger team, especially after the fleet-footed and elusive Bob Jackson, from Whitman, was forced out of the hostile backfield with an injury early in the second period.

Next to Cornell, the Black and Red charges of Coach George Munger rate as the class of the Ivy League. Harvard lacks what it takes to beat them.

The most the Crimson can hope to do is to keep the Quakers from running wild.

ONE FOR CANISIUS

BUFFALO, N. Y., Nov. 4 (INS)—Canisius today held its fifth successive gridiron victory over St. Bonaventure, winning yesterday 13 to 6. Canisius thus gained a one-game lead in the series started in 1919.

B. C.-Holy Cross

$3.30 seats for the Holy Cross game will be on sale only at the Boston College A. A., Chestnut Hill, on Monday, November 11, at 9:00 A. M.

No applications or telephone reservations will be accepted for these tickets.

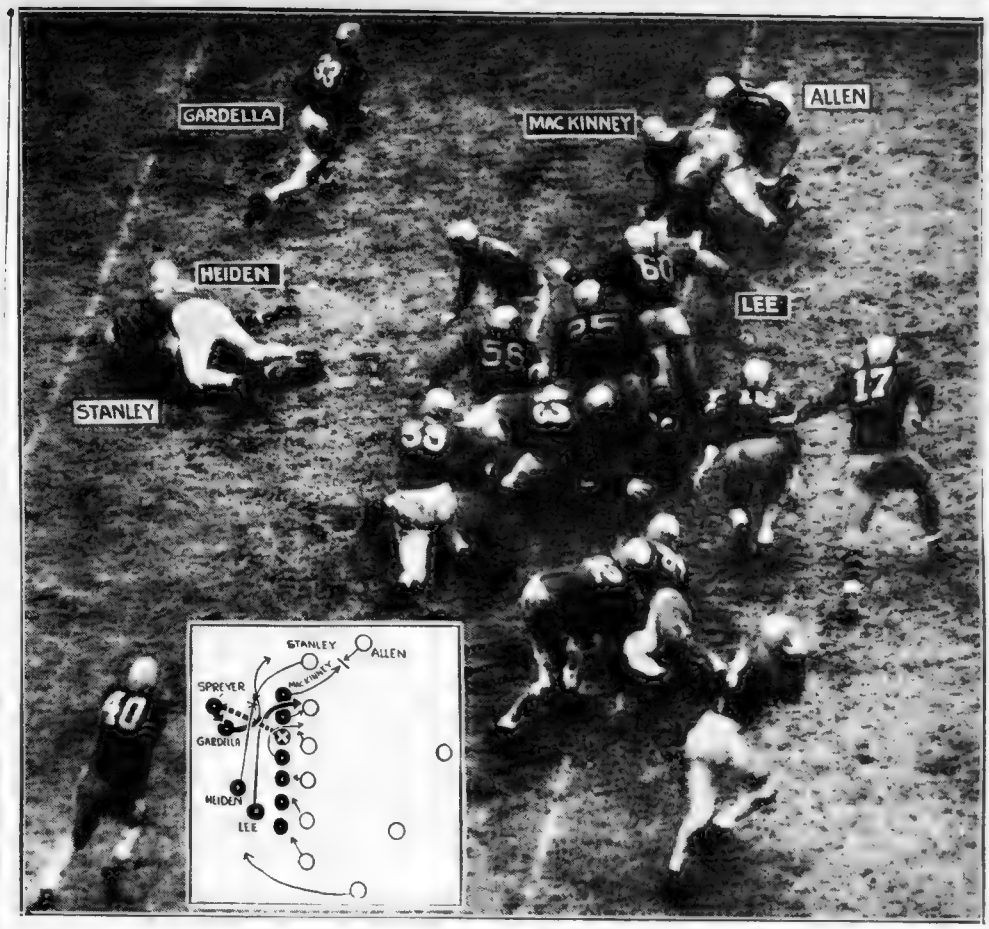
Applications for $3.30 seats should be filed at the Boston College A. A. by November 9.

Public sale of $3.30 seats will begin on Friday, November 15

BOSTON COLLEGE A. A.



PLAY THAT HAD everything but speed. Fran Lee, Harvard wingback, is shown romping past the line of scrimmage for a gain which netted nine yards on a reverse in the first period of the game against Princeton in the mud-covered Stadium last Saturday. Captain Joe Gardella, getting the ball from Charlie Spreyer, who received it direct from center, slipped it to Lee so cleverly that the Tigers didn't catch on to what really happened until Lee was in the open. A speed demon would have been off to the races. The Harvard carrier was pulled down inches short of a first down.

TEN TEAMS DROP FROM UN-UN RANKS

By the Associated Press

Ten teams, including four of "major" ranking, were removed from the list of undefeated and untied football teams over the past week-end, but three newcomers brought the total up to 31 survivors after the first Saturday of November.

The trio whose perfect records had been buried in obscurity were Milligan of Tennessee, Shurtleff of Illinois and La Crosse (Wis.) Teachers.

Harmon Keeps Scoring Lead, Despite Off Day

By the Associated Press

Though he enjoyed a day of rest Saturday along with his Michigan teammates Tommy Harmon managed to cling to a slim lead in the national football scoring race.

The big Wolverine's total of 57 points in five games including 12 touchdowns, was one point better than the 56 boasted by Walter Domina of Norwich, University of Vermont, who jumped into the race with all four feet by piling up 27 points.

B. U. SHIFTS TEAM WITH B. C. AHEAD

Realizing that his light half backs have little or no chance to move offensively against the huge Boston College forward wall, Coach Pat Hanley is contemplating at least one change in the Boston University lineup for the Terriers coming clash with the Eagles at Fenway Park Saturday.

Francis "Chick" Morris, big sophomore fullback will be moved to right halfback and Frankie Provinzano will be held in reserve.

Provinzano is a triple threat and one of the finest backs the Terriers have but weighing scarcely over 150 pounds, the going would be a bit too tough for this lightweight in a starting role.

WILLIAMS HURT

Then, too, Ralph Salvati may return to fullback. Walter Williams suffered a head injury in the first three minutes of the Western Reserve game and may not be ready to go. If Williams is sidelined, Salvati will take over after a long absence due to a gulled tendon.

Chances are, though, that Williams will be able to start. The other casualties Saturday were Chic Morris and George Murphy, both of whom had not completed the drills with which Coach planned to get ready for that Saturday.

There is a lot to say about last Saturday's affair. The Red Cats ended the Terriers' hope of two straight first bowl trips in the first two minutes of play when Sid Luckman intercepted a pass and ran the ball over the goal line.

B. U. CONCEDES B. C. VICTORY

This [illegible] Coach Pat Hanley [illegible] Boston College has the better of all the [illegible] Eagles have scored [illegible] Bill Shakespeare's [illegible] Boston University [illegible] Eagles are fair.

Reading Scouts In Hearst Shoot

As the fall season runs its course along into the cold weather and nears the day when the marksmen of New England must take to the indoor ranges, more than ever interest attaches to the William Randolph Hearst Citizen Marksmanship Competition.

Many fine new teams have been entered. One of them is the Horseshoe Rifle Club of Reading, a team entry sent along by Secretary George Rees.

Another is forthcoming from the Kean-Kutt Rifle Team of East Jaffrey, New Hampshire, filed by Secretary William C. Bemis.

Among the youngsters who will be seen very much in evidence in the William Randolph Hearst Rifle Trophy Competition is a team of Sea Scouts from Reading, filed by Arthur Stiles, Jr. Arthur says his team has only recently been formed. But he is convinced that the outfit is good enough to hold its own against the finest junior opposition.

Prime Bimelech For Florida Races

LEXINGTON, Ky., Nov. 4 (AP)—Col. E. R. Bradley's Bimelech, which lost the 1940 Kentucky Derby but won the Preakness, will return to racing competition in Florida this winter.

The last son of Black Toney is reported being prepared for the $50,000 Widener Cup at Hialeah March 1. He has been resting since injuring a forefoot in the Arlington classic last summer. If "Bim" performs well in Florida he may be raced throughout his four-year-old period, these sources said.

Darrah Leads Way In X-Country Run

NEWARK, N. J., Nov. 4 (AP)—Frank Darrah of the Norfolk Young Men's Club of Roxbury, Mass., won the National Junior Cross-country championship, covering the 10,000 meters in Branch Brook Park in 34.26.4.

Darrah, who weighs only 125 pounds, moved into the lead after about 3000 meters and remained unchallenged to cross the finish line 200 yards ahead of Ted Nebrich of the Central Y. M. C. A. of Buffalo, N. Y.

9000 See Gaels Trim Portland, 25-13

PORTLAND, Nov. 4 (AP)—St. Mary's Gaels, winding up a two-week transcontinental tour, capitalized on the "breaks" and trimmed University of Portland, 25-13, before a crowd of 9000.

Fullback Eddie Defreitas of Portland grabbed the opening kickoff on his six yard line and galloped through the entire St. Mary's team to the goal. The however, St. Mary's marched 60 six point lead was shortlived, yards to a touchdown after receiving the kickoff.

Shore Figures In Two Battles

NEW HAVEN, Ct., Nov. 4 (AP)—In a slam-bang battle typical of their encounters, New Haven and Springfield fought a 3-all overtime deadlock in an American Hockey League contest.

The home club had to come from behind in the final five minutes to gain the tie, and vied with Eddie Shore, veteran hockey star, for excitement honors. Shore, Springfield coach, figured in two scraps during the time he was in action, a wrestling match with Polly Durin and a fight with Vic. Myles, drawing a major and minor penalty.

Steamrollers Win From Clippers, 8-7

WILMINGTON, Del., Nov. 4 (AP)—A hard-fighting Providence Steamrollers eleven, cellar dweller of the American professional football association, handed the Wilmington Clippers their second defeat of the season, 8-7, before 6000 spectators.

By JACK CONWAY

I KNOW YOU will pardon me for rooting for Jockey Walter Taylor to win the national jockey championship after you know all of the facts. For a great many years I have been doing my best to carry on the fight of young men in sports, in our courts and in our schools.

WALTER TAYLOR

I felt this way even before I had three boys of my own. There is one case that stands out in my mind.

A boy in Roxbury had been arrested in one of our suburbs and he was charged with the illegal appropriation of an automobile. His counsel was Thomas E. Doyle, now federal agent-in-charge for Connecticut, Rhode Island and part of New York State. Attorney Doyle had entered war service and could not represent his client when the case was coming to trial. I was asked to appear in court for the boy, and agreed to do so.

The boy was found guilty on what I considered perjured testimony. A witness testified to an alleged confession of theft when I knew that the boy refused to make any admissions of guilt to anyone.

On appeal, the presiding judge set the bail at $500 and refused to allow the boy to be released in the custody of the probation department even when I explained that the boy's mother was a widow who worked by the day and to whom $500 represented more than $5,000,000 did to John D. Rockefeller.

The boy was bundled into a prison van and shipped to the Charles street jail. Fortunately I arrived at the District Attorney's office as soon as the boy reached the jail.

Fred Sheehan was an assistant district attorney. Fred and myself had once covered the Court House. I told Sheehan the story, and he summoned Miss Reilly, a probation officer. The result was the boy was immediately released in the custody of the Probation Department.

Two days later Attorney Doyle was able to get the boy a berth in the U. S. Merchant Marine. Fred Sheehan not prossed the case, and a boy who was merely the victim of circumstances was given a chance to make good. He did, and today the boy of World War days is captain of a huge liner. His mother lives in Roxbury in a fine apartment and has a maid, all paid for by her boy.

All Youngsters Ask for Is a Chance

THERE ARE not any bad boys. True, at times youngsters will stray off the line, but when they are treated fairly and shown the errors of their way they will do the right thing.

I knew Babe Ruth well when he was a young ball player. We had a news service with Babe furnishing the ideas while I wrote them down on paper.

The holier than thou element in baseball tried to punish Ruth for boyish pranks, and I led the fight for the famous star and referred to him as the "golden hearted bad boy of baseball." We didn't try to deny that Ruth had broken some of the rules of baseball, but we did say in bold faced type that he had always played baseball honestly, that he was not tied up with crooked gamblers

The baseball magnates had a change of heart, the old Bambino was given another chance, with advanced years he did not toss the rules of training out of the window, he married a fine wife, saved his money, brought up a family, and today has financial security and the respect of all who know him.

* * *

JOCKEY TAYLOR convinced me last Saturday at Rockingham Park that he possesses character and an honesty in speech and action that is certain to cause him to be successful in life.

It was in the fifth race at Rockingham on Saturday that Taylor proved he is a real champion. The stewards thought Taylor, up on Sir Marlboro, had been carried to the outside by Jockey R. Adair, up on Halcyon Boy. The stewards had ordered that "foul claimed" be flashed on the tote board.

Taylor and Adair were called to the stand. Taylor knew the stewards had questioned the running of the race, and that if he supported their suspicions that the number of Halcyon Boy would have come down and that of Sir Marlboro would go up. Another victory would have aided Taylor in the jockey race. It would also have enriched Connie Smythe, owner of Sir Marlboro, and Taylor would have received a larger fee.

"Halcyon Boy did not interfere with my horse," Taylor told the stewards. "Sir Marlboro ran out himself. I was having trouble with him all through the stretch, and then he got out of control. Halcyon Boy ran out with my horse, but didn't trouble me."

Adair denied an interference.

"It is grand to find a boy so honest," said Tom Thorp as the stewards voted to take down the claim of foul. "Taylor is a fine rider, and he has once more proved his character to us. This kind of honesty will carry him a long ways in life."

I think all boys are honest. When they do something off the line they are the innocent tools of older people.

ROOKIES ENLIVEN ICE RACE

By the Associated Press

The national hockey season is only two days old, but already it seems safe to say it won't be very different from other seasons except that there's a new crop of rookies which promises to provide some lively doings.

The world champion New York Rangers opened the campaign Saturday night by defeating the Toronto Maple Leafs, runners-up in the Stanley Cup playoffs, 4 to 1.

The Rangers, healthier than they were last spring, but otherwise unchanged, scored three goals in the last two minutes to win the game. Two of them came when the Leafs were a man short on a penalty.

Last night Detroit Red Wings, presenting a new goalie, Johnny Mowers, and a lot of second-year players, downed the rebuilt New York Americans, 4-2, and Les Canadiens, probably the most altered team in the league, tied the Boston Bruins, 1-1.

Two of Detroit's goals were scored while the Amerks were short-handed on penalties and another while they were ganging the Red Wing net.

The Americans had some consolation, however, in the fact that Jack (Pearuts) O'Flaherty, one of their half-dozen rookies, scored both their goals.

The largest Montreal hockey crowd in several years, an overflow throng of 11,780, turned out to see the 1941 model Canadiens in their debut. They saw Bert Gardiner, the new goalie, turn in a half dozen remarkable saves and Alex Singbush, new defenseman, pave the way for Montreal's only goal.

Toe Blake, the club's leading sharp-shooter for two seasons, did the scoring on Singbush's rebound near the end of the second period. Milt Schmidt tied it up for Boston in the third frame, slipping around the net and poking the puck home from a scramble in front of it.

5 American Aces Hit Jack Pot

The American grid staff selectors enjoyed a happy weekend with five selectors finishing in a deadlock for first, picking 12 winners out of 15, two losers and one tie.

Austen Lake, Herb Finnegan, Jack Conway, Bill Connell and Mike Gillooly fell down on only two choices. Bill Grimes and Sam Brogna had three wrong, and Frank Moynihan and Fred Lane finished in a dead heat for last spot each falling down on four.

The Clemson-Tulane and Northwestern-Minnesota games caused the most confusion.

George, Robert On Bowser Card

Ed Don George will attempt to continue up the comeback trail when he faces Yvon Robert, Wednesday night in the main event at the Arena, a double windup.

In the semi-final event, Leo Numa, will clash with Fritz Schnable. The preliminaries are Charley Strack vs. Buck Weaver, and Tom Casey vs. Frank Eident.

RULES GOVERNING THE FOOTBALL CONTEST

NO. 7

The object of the Daily Record-American Football Contest is to select winners of twenty collegiate football games to be played each Saturday. Anyone may enter the contest excepting employes of the Record-American and their families.

The selections are listed on the chart here which is ready to be filled out by the contestant. Simply place an (X) in the space nearest the name of the team you think will win, or if you predict a tie game place the letter (T) in the spaces nearest the names of the tying teams.

Calculate the AVERAGE score of all competing teams, except that for which you predict a tie score. Write winners' and losers' average score in space provided in coupon. Do not write individual scores in spaces or on the coupon. Indicate average scores only by adding scores of all teams and then divide the total by the number of teams competing.

Only ONE solution may be entered by a contestant. All entries must be in the office of the Record-American not later than Midnight Friday, the day before the games.

You need not buy a copy of the Record or American to enter this contest. Tracings of the contest form may be made from copies in the public library or in the Record-American office. Such entries will be acceptable and given equal consideration with those clipped from these newspapers.

A prize of $100.00 will be awarded the person whose entries contain all selections correct. If more than one person submits perfect solutions, $100.00 will be awarded the tying contestant whose average score tabulations most nearly match with actual average scores on the games. If no perfect list of solutions is entered $50.00 will be awarded to the contestant having the nearest number of selections correct and should two or more contestants tie for this prize the tying contestant submitting the most nearly correct average scores will receive the award. A prize of $25.00 will be awarded the person submitting the second largest number of correct solutions and should two or more contestants tie for this prize, tying contestant submitting the most nearly correct average scores will receive the prize. Twenty-five awards of $1.00 each will be given the twenty-five contestants whose entries contain in succession, the next largest number of correct solutions and whose average scores most nearly match the actual scores of the games.

Winners of each week's contest will be announced on the Saturday following the games. The decision of the judges in all cases shall be final.

In the event of postponement of any of the games, such games will automatically be excluded from the contest. In the event that the planned date of any game scheduled is changed, then that game is automatically excluded.

NOTRE DAME OVER-RATED, ARMY PROVES

SUPERMAN. Big Chief Norman Standlee of Bowl-bound Stanford Indians looks for soft spot to land after sparkling 42-yard run in second quarter of game with University of California at Los Angeles. Ted Jones (37) and Ray Bartlett blocked the Indian's flight. Stanford won, 20 to 14, for sixth straight. Conversely, it was sixth straight defeat for Uclans. Gathering of 60,000 looked on.

International News Photograph Service

By BILL GRIMES

Did Notre Dame pull its punches against Army?
Were the Irish over-confident?
Did the South Benders play with their minds focused on next Saturday's game with Northwestern?
Or, have the experts put themselves in the middle by proclaiming the 1940 Irish the equal of Knute Rockne's truly great 1930 machine?

To Mr. (and, yes, to even Mrs.) C. Football Public it doesn't make sense for the current Army eleven to outplay supposedly the greatest squad developed at South Bend in a decade, in every department of the game, barring punting.

For the life of them, they cannot imagine from reports Army making 16 first downs to four by the Irish. They can't figure the Kaydets outrushing Notre Dame by 112 yards or the whys and wherefores of the Irish completing only one out of eight passes and for no gain.

IRISH UNDEFEATED

Notre Dame is undefeated and untied but wasn't entitled to rating with Boston College, Georgetown, Cornell, Tennessee, Michigan, Minnesota, Texas A. & M. or Stanford.

And, here's where the experts probably threw a shoe, Notre Dame hasn't played a tough schedule.

What have the College of the Pacific, Georgia Tech, Carnegie Tech and Illinois done this season?

Alonzo Stagg's outfit might have been scheduled, but probably wasn't, to guarantee a flying start to that motion picture.

A week ago Georgia Tech was knocked off by Auburn and last Saturday was buried under an avalanche of Duke touchdowns. The Skiboes have been on the winning end of two minor games, Geneva and Case, and, in all probability hit an all time low by losing to Cincinnati, a team, which was beaten 14 to 0 by Pat Hanley's Terriers. The only entry on the credit side of Illinois' ledger is Bradley Tech.

Now let's look at Army. The Kaydets entered the Notre Dame game with one win, a 20 to 19 victory over Williams, a team which was tied by Bowdoin and which eked out a victory over Tufts by two points.

After that close call with the Royal Purple, Army was all but pushed into the Hudson river by Cornell, outplayed, although awarded a draw, by Harvard and beaten by Lafayette.

So, Notre Dame didn't have a punch to pull, had nothing to warrent a superiority complex, but, realizing its shortcomings, might have been worrying over Northwestern.

PENN BURIED NAVY

The above analysis brings out the facts that Elmer Layden's 1940 hirelings are vastly overrated by the experts, who sold the football public a bill of goods and who will have trouble getting any repeat orders.

Although Navy, Northwestern, Clemson and Detroit were eliminated from the undefeated group on Saturday, Boston College, Georgetown, Cornell, Tennessee, Minnesota, Stanford, Texas A & M, Lafayette, Penn State, F & M, Rensselear and, of course, Notre Dame retained their membership cards, as did Michigan which enjoyed an open date, to get set for Minnesota next Saturday.

Penn did a 20 to 0 job on Navy, the Gophers nosed out Norwestern 13 to 12, the Greenies of Tulane put a stop to Clemson's winning streak and Tulsa ruined Detroit's season.

Boston College, Georgetown and Cornell continued to roll along unmolested. The Eagles wallowed through rain and mud to beat Manhattan, the Hoyas stopped Syracuse without trouble and the Ithacans nicked Lou Little's Columbia Lions for four touchdowns.

Tennessee moved a step closer to the Southern Conference title by smacking down L. S. U. 28 to 0 and Texas A. & M. retained its edge in the fight for the Southwestern crown when giant John Eric Kimbrough, its laughing 222-pound fullback mowed down Arkansas.

Coach "Hook" Mylin has his Lafayette Leopards well on their way to another undefeated season, stepping over W. & J. on Saturday and Penn State remained in the elite group by virtue of a 12 to 0 win over South Carolina.

The Indians from Palo Alto spoiled homecoming day for the Uclan Bears by chalking up a 20 to 14 victory in a spectacular game in the Los Angeles Memorial Coliseum. Stanford displayed tremendous power and clever deception and it's going to take better than a good dub to beat them in the Rose Bowl.

Al McCoy's undefeated but tied Colby Mules are headed for another tie for the Pine Tree State title with Bowdoin. Despite a series of injuries, which robbed him of some of his key men, McCoy has again come up with a winner at Waterville.

Colby and Bowdoin fought to a 0 to 13 draw and last Saturday the Mules beat Fred Brice's Maine squad and the Polar Bears stopped Bates.

In the event that Colby gets through Bates and Bowdoin isn't stopped by Maine, the Mules and the Bears should play off for the title. It's really getting to be a habit for Maine state championships to wind up with the McCoys and the Walshs deadlocked.

Malden Faces Somerville H. Under Lights

By SAM BROGNA

Schoolboys today started their busiest week of the scholastic season as heavy rains Saturday forced a majority of school officials to call off their scheduled games.

Over a dozen contests are to be fought with Somerville vs. Malden and Revere meeting Saugus topping off the season under flood lights.

All the schools playing today, also are in action this coming Saturday.

Malden's Golden Tornado, with Capt. Dan Brandano taking his place in the line for the first time this year, plays host to Somerville at Malden. With his presence bolstering his eleven considerably, Coach Warren McGuirk feels quite confident in turning back Coach Luciano's first edition.

REVERE AT SAUGUS

Over at Stackpole Field, Saugus, Coach Buzz Harvey will line up his big eleven against the Revere Beachcombers. Both teams have been taking it on the chin more than expected and, before the lights are turned off tonight, one is sure to receive another kayo punch.

Both games are scheduled to start at 8 o'clock.

The afternoon program offers the schoolboy gentry plenty of all-around, outstanding tilts, namely Brockton's invasion to Arlington, Woburn's visit to Melrose, Natick at Dedham and Wakefield at Rindge Tech.

The Waltham at Everett game which was supposed to have been played over the week-end, will take place Saturday, Nov. 23. The contest was pushed back some three weeks when Coach Dennis Gildea of Everett, whose team is in the thick of the state championship fight, thought it best not to risk any injuries if played today and also give his Big Red squad an extra week's rest for this Saturday's all important clash with Lynn Classical.

The lone North Shore afternoon game was at Swampscott where a strong Danvers eleven was furnishing the opposition. Other games on today's docket are Winthrop at Chelsea, Norwood at North Quincy, and Methuen at Stoneham.

BROOKLYN ROUTED

LORETTO, Pa., Nov. 4 (INS)—St. Francis today gloried in a 31 to 0 rout scored over Brooklyn College. Brooklyn was so outclassed it made only two first downs.

Tulane Meteoric Since B. C. Game

NEW ORLEANS, Nov. 4 (AP)—To anyone wondering how the same Tulane team could drop three straight games and then polish off Rice, North Carolina and Clemson the answer is—it was not the same team.

The Green wave which washed away most of Clemson's Bowl hopes, 13-0, last Saturday was a far different type of surge from the ripple which scarcely wet the claws of Boston College's Eagles five weeks ago, and later lost to Auburn and Fordham.

For most of the afternoon the Greenies looked as they did last year when they came through undefeated. They gained more than 400 yards ,including 333 rushing, and held the enemy to 61.

"We're running harder, blocking better and playing more heads-up on defense," generalized Coach Red Dawson today. "Inexperience and injuries were our big troubles. The sophomores have learned plenty.

"The line has been strengthened since Tommy O'Boyle has been able to play again and Jack Tittle was shifted from quarterback."

Errors in early games startled and disheartened Tulane followers. Sophomore guards played too close on defense and were repeatedly driven in. Ends were sucked in. The secondary let pass receivers get into the clear.

Blockers forgot their assignments or missed their men, ball carriers "pointed" the plays or failed to cut properly over the tackles and ends.

THOMAS COULD SEE IT

But recently the guards have been impassable, the ends fooled rarely, even by Clemson's super-tricky reverses. Pass defenders have hung onto their men like leeches.

Although North Carolina's Jim Lalanne punctured the Tulane goal line by air, Rice and Clemson found their aerial attacks did them more harm than good.

Sport-O-Grimes

Gate receipts, not endowments, finance football at B. C. and B. U. . . . Frequently, the budgets do not balance . . . And, if they played a double header, the Eagles and the Terriers couldn't tax the capacity of Alumni Field.

So why should Saturday's game be played at Fenway Park? . . . Oh, yes, I know it's B. U.'s home game . . . But, what of it . . . Give the Intowners what goes to the home club, instead of a percentage of the "gate," the concessions and the parking fees to Tom Yawkey . . .

He doesn't need money that badly . . . But, B. C. and B. U. can make good use of a few extra dollars . .

Sibby Sisti and Billy Weitelmann of the Bees were too young to register for the draft . . . The City of Lowell's two outstanding ball players Al Roberge, who belongs to the Bees, and, Johnny Barrett, property of the Red Sox, were lucky in the conscription lottery . . . It took the government operators 20 hours to reach their numbers . . .

If Georgetown tries that "Minsky" (naked reverse) play against the Eagles, some Hoya is going to get crucified . . . Hank Mazur, the Lowell boy, who transferred from Boston College to West Point, came into his own against Notre Dame . . . Hank is a better football player than he'll ever be able to prove at "The Point" . . .

Joe Koufman, the Brooklyn boy, was hit so hard by a Tiger on the opening kickoff Saturday that he was in a fog for the entire first half . . . Burgie Ayres and George Heiden hit Tiger after Tiger with every ounce of power at their command.

So even Jimmy Foxx cannot "sell" Jack Wilson as a pitcher to Tom Yawkey . . . All of the sportsmen, alleged to be anxious to purchase the Bees have made wrong approaches . . . Here's a tip for those who are to come . . . See Bob Quinn first . . . And, don't let anyone tell you that it isn't the right approach BILL GRIMES.

Sweep for Willkie!

LARCHMONT, N. Y., Nov. 4 (INS)—Willkie, a sailing dinghy, not the G. O. P. presidential nominee, swept to a complete victory yesterday.

The boat, owned by Arthur Knapp and renamed Willkie for the occasion, won the Class X and 25 events in the sailing dinghy regatta at the Larchmont Yacht Club and then finished first in a race in which ten B, three X and five 110 class crafts were entered.

Minor N. E. College Grid Race in Muddle

With small college football here in New England reaching its climax it becomes more and more difficult to name any one outstanding team.

Bates beats Tufts and loses to Northeastern—Tufts then beats Northeastern. Amherst beats Bowdoin, Bowdoin whips Wesleyan—Wesleyan turns around and clouts Amherst. Coast Guard gets walloped three times in a row and then turns around and hammers Wesleyan. And so on down the line.

Last Saturday, small college football ran fairly true on the whole. The only startling upset was the Coast Guard's 27 to 7 triumph over Wesleyan. The two other Little Three schools did as expected when Amherst downed Mass State and Williams won over Union.

For the first time in years, both games in the Maine title fight finished as figured with Bowdoin too good for Bates and Colby superior to Bates.

Here in Boston, Tufts again came back and took Northeastern 12 to 2. This game can't be called an upset, though, it figured to be pretty much of a tossup. A long march netted one score and a 43-yard touchdown jaunt by Harrison clinched the verdict.

New Hampshire put up a courageous battle before bowing to St. Anselm 6 to 0 while Providence and Rhode Island carried their state's colors to soft victories over Springfield and Worcester Poly.

Olympics Test Bruin Sextet

Boston's Olympics have had some strong forward lines from Dartmouth in the past three years, but the one they will ice next Sunday against the Bruins at the Arena promises to be he strongest "Green Wave" in history.

Buddy Foster is slated to pivot this trio, and flanking the Melrose blond will be two former Dartmouth captains, Paul Guibord and Dan Sullivan.

It is the finest looking forward line in the Olympics' history.

Junie Allen, Dick Lewis and Junie Stubbs, all veterans, from the second line, while the third group is made up of the three mighty mites, Frankie Spain at center, Gerry Desrosiers on the right wing and Ray Fortin on the left.

This third line doesn't average 150 pounds, yet because of its speed, may turn into the high-scoring group of the entire squad.

Still very much unsettled is the goalie's job, where Vic Poulin is pressing the veterans Ted Frazier and Tom Moon.

Chiefs Take Bears, 10 to 0

MILWAUKEE, Nov. 4 (AP)—Two breaks in the opening period set up a touchdown and a field goal as the Milwaukee Chiefs defeated the Boston Bears 10 to 0 in an American Professional Football League game before 8000 fans.

Bob Eckl booted a field goal from the 16-yard line after a pass interception moved the ball to Boston's 10-yard line. Later the Chiefs recovered a fumble on the Bears' 12 and Obbie Novakofski passed to Sherman Barnes for the touchdown.

| | | | | | |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| Milwaukee Chiefs | 10 | 0 | 0 | 0 | —10 |

106 Passes In 0-0 Deadlock

LATROBE, Pa., Nov. 4 (INS)—The score sheet showed two goose eggs today for yesterday's gridiron encounter between Catholic University and St. Vincent's College. The forward passing department was another matter. A total of 106 aerials were attempted.

Train Tie-up

Railroad officials account for derailment of inbound Saugus-Lynn branch train as due to burning out of a journal box in the locomotive, the wheel of which may be seen resting on a track tie.

Long Walk
